STATE BANKERS NOW IN SESSION

Important Reports and Interesting Addresses Featured First Day.

PLEASANT OUTING ON RIVER

Guests of Capt. John W. Harper on Steamer Wilmington—Legislation and Bills of Lading—Dance at Lumina.

Yesterday was largely given over by the State Bankers' Association in session at Wrightsville Beach, to pleasure, although an important business session was held during the morning. In the afternoon several hundred of the visitors went down the historic Cape Fear on the steamer "Wilmington", and last night the bankers and their friends were guests of the Tidewater Power Company at a dance given in their honor at Lumina. Concluding sessions of the convention will be held today, when officers will be elected for the ensuing year and the next place of meeting decided upon.

The convention was not called to order until about 10:15 yesterday morning in order to give the bankers who arrived during the previous evening an opportunity to register. Calling the roll and reading the minutes of previous meeting were passed over. First on the programme was the report of the delegate to the American Bankers Association, Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, cashier of the Merchants and Farmers National Bank, Charlotte. This report will be found in another column.

Col. John F. Bruton, chairman of the committee on bills of lading, and the committee on legislation submitted his reports, and the first named will also be found elsewhere in today's paper. The report on legislation is as follows:

Wilson, N. C., June 22, 1910.

To the North Carolina Bankers' Association in Session at Wrightsville, N. C.

Gentlemen:—Your Legislative Committee beg to submit the following:

The report of your committee at the last convention set forth the acts of the Legislature of 1909 directly affecting the banking interests in North Carolina, and your committee has had nothing referred to it since the last convention for its consideration.

While it is not entirely within the province of the committee, it may be well to secure from the members present at this convention an expression bearing upon the present bank tax laws of the State, in order that your legislative committee may have for its guidance an expressed opinion on the above named subject, which is receiving more attention than ever before.

To the end that the views of the members of our association may be called forth we beg to submit the following preamble and resolutions:

"Whereas, the present methods of taxing banks in North Carolina are unjust and detrimental to the interests of the shareholders, in that:

"1. Bank stocks, the income from which is more or less limited by the interest laws, are taxed at a much higher assessed valuation than individual properties of the same actual value and whose income productivity is without any legal limitations whatever.

"2. The tax levies laid for county and municipal purposes on the capital stock of every other corporation are fixed by its residence or home office, and the corporation os required to pay all taxes; whereas, in the case of a bank the levies for these purposes vary in amount, being dependent upon the residence of the stockholders, whereby the bank is not permitted to pay these taxes without injustice to certain of its stockholders. The result is that bank stocks are discriminated against as an investment.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved:

"First. That we the North Carolina Bankers' Association protest against the injustice and discriminatory character of the present Machinery Act governing bank taxation.

Second. That we respectfully ask the General Assembly of North Carolina at its next session to relieve the banks and their stockholders of the unjust burdens herein complained of, by the enactment of such laws as will,

1. Accord to the officers of the banks the duty of exercising the same conceptions of values and the same spirit of honesty to return bank stocks for taxation as are now conceded these very men and all other citizens in valuing and giving in for taxation their individual properties.

2. Require every bank to treat as its own obligation and pay as per levy promulgated or land in its own county or town all taxes against its capital stock, and thus relieve the bank's stockholders from the annoying and unnecessary burdens of paying county and municipal taxes.

The adoption of the foregoing by this convention will make clear the position of the banks of the State, and should in our opinion receive due consideration from the law making power of the State.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN F. BRUTON, Chairman.

VICTORY FOR TAFT SCORED IN HOUSE

President Successfully Fought Certain Legislation Asked by Labor.

CONGRESS TO ADJOURN SOON

House Agreed to Senate Amendment Against Exempting Labor Organizations From Anti-Trust Laws. Fight Waxed Warm.

Washington, June 23.—The action of the House of Representatives late today in receding from its labor amendment to the Sundry civil bill, marked the successful termination of an all day figat by President Taft against what he termed class legislation of an improper sort, and apparently removed the last real obstacle in the way of an adjournment of Congress within the next few days.

President Taft spent the entire day and bent every energy toward the defeat of the House amendment which proposed to exempt labor unions from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law. He threw his whole influence into the fight sending for several scores of representatives and urging them to defeat the provision. Mr. Taft declared that if it cost him the support of every laboring man in the country he would not approve such a provision of law. Th laboring man, he believed, asked only equality before the law, and was entitled to no more.

It was the President's fight on this amendment to the big supply bill which caused rumors to spread today that there undoubtedly would be a delay in the adjournment of Congress. Mr. Taft felt he had a longer fight before him than proved to be the case and was doubtful of the result until the vote was finally taken. When informed of the result he made no attempt to conceal his gratification.

Incidentally the President sent a long telegram tonight to the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, meeting at St. Paul in which he outlined his views on the matter.

The telegram was in response to a message of protest from the convention. For several days past the White House has been fairly bombarded with letters and telegrams from labor organizations in favor of the House amendment. The messages made public tonight were as follows:

St. Paul, Minn., June 22, 1910.

"The President:

"Press reports of today indicate that you favor using the people's money to prosecute labor in their efforts to better conditions. The 798 delegates attending the twelfth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen at St. Paul instruct me to protest against this unjust policy.

"W. S. CARTER,

'President Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen."

In his reply to Mr. Carter today President Taft says:

"Your dispatch of June 22nd received in which you say that press reports indicate that I favor using the people's money to prosecute labor in their efforts to better conditions, and you portest against such a policy. I pre-

LABOR UNIONS NOT EXEMPT

Fight in Congress to Gain Immunity From Prosecution Under Anti-Trust Laws Lost—Lively Debate and Close Vote.

Washington, June 23.—Labor organization have lost their fight to gain exemption from prosecution under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws. Following a lively debate and by a vote of 138 to 130 the House today agreed to the Senate action striking out a provision in the Sundry Civil bill that would have effected this immunity.

When the Sundry Civil bill was before the House that body tacked on to it an amendment by Mr. Hughes, of New Jersey, a Democrat providing that no part of the appropriation for the enforcement of the anti-trust laws shall be spent in the prosecution of any organization or individual for entering into any combination or agreement having in view the increasing of wages, shortening of hours, or bettering the condition of labor or for any act done in furtherance thereof not in itself unlawful."

The Senate struck out the amendment. The House then instructed its conferees to stand firmly by that provision and the Senate conferees, resending such an iron clad direction, refused to consider the item. Today Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, one of the House conferees moved that the House recede from its position and concur with the Senate's action.

The motion stirred up a hornet's nest. Many members none unconscious of the possible labor interpretation of their votes in the coming elections participated in the debate to make clear their positions.

On the final vote, which gave a knockout blow to the Hughes amendment and left the way clear to easier agreement on the sundry civil bill, the following Republicans voted with the Democrats for the Hughes amendment.

Austin, Tennessee; Carey, Cooper, Lenroot, Nelson and Stafford, of Wisconsin; Davis, Minnesota; Fish, New York; Greene, Massachusetts, Fetch and Reynolds, Pennsylvania; Hubbard, Kendall, Woods, Iowa; Hayes, Califronia; Kronmiller, Maryland; Lundin, Rodenberg and Wilson, Illinois; Murdock, Kansas; and Poindexter, Wasington.

The Democrats who voted with the Republicans; Bartlett, Nevada, Sherley, Kentucky, and Page, North Carolina.

There were 16 present who did not vote and numerous pairs of Democrats with the Republicans.

During the debate leading up to this vote, Mr. Tawney said he hoped the House would recede and concur with the Senate as to this amendment, declaring that the amendment was offered for pure political buncombe. He protested against Congress tieing the hands of the government in the enforcement of criminal law and declared that the amendment worked a class discrimination which "would institute a policy that some day would shake the very foundations of this government."

Mr. Hughes, author of the amendment, denied that his purpose was political.

"There are many members," he shouted, "on the Republican side of the House whom I am glad to acquit for this charge of demagogy. It is significant that the Republican party, built on the idea of striking the manacles from the black slaves, should seek now to put manacles on the white slaves, the laboring men of this country." The bill was sent back to conference with the Hughes' amendment eliminated from further consideration.

The messages from the merchants are always interesting—and usually affect the "state of your purse."

ROOSEVELT QUITS POLITICS

Declares He May Never Make Another Political Speech—Still Receiving Old Friends—Guest of the Harvard Club.

New York, June 23.—"I don't know that I shall ever make another political speech," said Theodore Roosevelt today.

The colonel had just popped out of his editorial office late in the afternoon, his collar wilted with perspiration and his face red from the heat. He saw a group of interviewers and stopped. They told him that his first political utterance was awaited with the greatest interest—and when, please, would he make it.

"I have no idea when I shall make a political speech", he replied. "I shall make no speech of any kind for two months, and my first speeches in Kansas City, Cheyenne, Milwaukee and Chicago, will have nothing to do with politics. I don't know that I shall ever make another political speech."

"What, never?" some one exclaimed.

"I don't say 'never'," he corrected; "I simply don't know."

But speeches or no speeches conferences will continue. Gifford Pinchot and James W. Garfield, ex-Secretary of the Interior, will go to Oyster Bay tonight to spend the night. Two or three of the Rough Riders will be the colonel's guests at luncheon tomorrow. They will return two regimental flags which Col. Roosevelt loaned them for use in the reunion today.

Mr. Roosevelt did not reach his editorial office until 10:38 o'clock. The place was boiling all day long. Interviewers, photographers, old friends and people bent on every sort of mission besieged it. At 1 o'clock the colonel left his offices for the Harvard Club where there was two hours of yarn spinning across the luncheon table. As he entered the dining room, the orchestra struck up "What's the Matter With Father" and every Rough Rider, standing in his chair, joined in the chorus.

Just as he was leaving the club the police raided a group of boys who had clambered up the fire escapes to look at "Teddy", but Col. Roosevelt interceded and no arrests were made. Among the guests at the luncheon were Wm. A. Larned and Robert D. Wrenn, former tennis champions, "Dave" Goodrich, Harvard's '98, the oarsman and rough rider, John C. Greenway, an old football player, a number of polo players and several members of the New York Stock Exchange.

After the luncheon Col. Roosevelt spent an hour at his editorial office where he talked with Louis and Temple Abernethy, the boys who rode on horseback to see him. Then he took an automobile for Oyster Bay.

MR. McKINNON REPLIES.

To Remarks of Mr. Geo. McLeod at Meeting in Robeson.

Maxton, N. C., June 23.—Mr. A. J. McKinnon made the following statement in reply to certain remarks about him in a meeting in Robeson county yesterday:

"There is not enough truth in the labored reply made by Geo. B. McLeod to make it worthy of my notice, but I will say that I have not spent one cent in this county that I am not willing for the public to know of. In the meeting referred to, Mr. McLeod stated that I would have to put up $2,000 to carry Robeson. I promptly replied that if I had to buy the nomination I did not want it. My refusal to put up the amount is probably the method to which he objects. I have not urged as he claimed, the adoption of any particular plan for holding the convention. Traitors have to cry to justify their treachery.

CHARLTON ADMITS LAKE COMO CRIME

American Youth Confesses Murder of Wife on Honeymoon in Italy.

ARRESTED AT HOBOKEN PIER

Told Gruesome Story After Pitiable Collapse at the Police Station Recognized by Murdered Woman's Brother.

New York, June 23—The Lake Como murder mystery is solved. Porter Charlton, an American youth of good family, sought by the police of two continents, was arrested in Hoboken, N. J., shortly before noon today, as he stepped from the North German Lloyd liner Princess Irene. In less than an hour he had confessed without a tremor that in a fit of temper he beat his wife into insensibility with a mallet, jammed her body in a trunk, and sunk it in the waters of the Italian lake.

She was Mary Scott Castle, of San Francisco, a woman 16 years his senior, divorced wife of Neville H. Castle, a San Francisco lawyer and a beauty.

Charlton is only 21 and a son of Judge Paul Charlton, law officer of the Bureau of Insular Affairs at Washington, and a classmate of President Taft's at Yale. The boy married Mrs. Castle in Wilmington, Del., last Spring over his parents' protest. Ill-mated and both of erratic temperament they sailed for Italy for their honeymoon.

Murder brought it to an end and her body was found in the lake by fishermen on June 10th.

Fleeing from Italy under an assumed name, almost penniless and shabby of dress, Charlton, on landing, ran straight into the arms of Capt. Henry Harrison Scott, U. S. A., the murdered wife's brother. He was taken to police headquarters at Hoboken, where, after a pitiable collapse so spasmodic that it produced extreme nausea, he regained his composure and unflinchingly signed the confession.

Tonight he is behind the bars in the Hoboken city jail, pending settlement of the complicated problem of extradition brought about by his arrest.

Capt. Scott's foresight, directed so accurately that it falls little short of a weired premonition, resulted in young Charlton's arrest.

Stationed at Fort Wright, on Fisher's Island, off New London, Conn., Capt. Scott obtained hurried leave of absence at 10 o'clock this morning and went to Hoboken to scan the passengers of incoming liners. Three Hoboken detectives aided him.

He accompanied the prisoner to police court but did not hear the heart-rending confession that poured from the young man's lips. Charlton, whose collapse after arrest seemed due to fear of Capt. Scott, refused to make a statement in the army officer's presence and the latter left the room. Throughout the ordeal Capt. Scott bore himself well, but at the request of detectives who had noticed a bulge beneath his coat which proved to be a pistol, he surrendered the weapon without objection.

In his signed confession, Charlton declared that no one else than he had a hand in the death of his wife. It was the old story of incompatibility and high tempers. After he had told his story in a rambling way Chief of Police Hayes condensed it into a typewritten statement which he asked the prisoner to sign. In filling out the form Charlton gave his age as 21, his birthplace Omaha, his occupation, "bank clerk," and his place of residence 204 West 55th street, New York.

Then followed this statement: "My wife and I lived happily together. She was the best woman in the world to me, but she had an ungovernable temper. So had I. We frequently quarreled over the most trivial matters and her language to me was frequently so foul that I know she did not know the meaning of it.

"The night I struck her she had been quarreling with me. She was in the worst temper I had ever seen her in. I told her if she did not cease I would leave her and put a stop to it. She stopped for a little while and started again.

"I took a mallet which I had used to do some household repairs and struck her three times. I thought she was dead. I put the body in a trunk in which I also threw the mallet.

"About 12 o'clock that night I moved the trunk from the house, dragged it to a small pier near the house and threw it overboard. I remained at Malpraiso the next day and left the following night and went to Como and from there to Genoa where I took the steamer Irene three days later.

"The room where I killed her was an out-door sleeping apartment.

(Signed) "PORTER CHARLTON."

As he appended his signature, Charlton remarked: "There's a Russian, Ispolatoff. I see he has been under suspicion in connection with this affair and I want to clear him. He was the only man of intelligence in the neighborhood of our villa. The rest of those who came to see us were cattle."

The prisoner took a pen and added to his statement the following post-

CAUSES FOR HIGH PRICES DISPUTED

Democrats Disagree With Republicans on Report to the Senate.

REASONS FOR THE ADVANCE

Mirnority Granted Permission to Submit Another Report—Various Reasons Attributing to Increase Are Given.

Washington, June 23.—Republicans and Democrats do not agreed as to the causes for the great increase in the interest of living between 1900 and 1910.

The majority report of the special Senate committee, which investigated these questions was submitted to the Senate today by Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee. A meeting was held prior to the presentation of the report and the minority members of the committee protested against the character of the finding.

After a long argument the minority was authorized to employ an expert to go over the report of the majority and prepare the minority views for submission to the Senate.

The majority of the committee found that of the many causes contributing to the advance in prices, the following were most marked:

Increased cost of production of farm products by reason of higher land values and higher wages. Increased demand for farm products and food. Shifting of population from good producing to food consuming occupations and localities. Immigration to food consuming localities. Reduced fertility of land resulting in lower average production or in increased expenditures for fertilization. Increased banking facilities in agricultural localities, which enabled farmers to hold their crops and market them to the best advantage. It was found that this not only steadied prices but had a tendency to increase them. Reduced supply convenient to transportation facilities of such commodities as timber.

Cold storage plants which result in preventing extreme fluctuations of prices of certain commodities with the seasons, but by enabling the wholesalers to buy and sell at the best possible advantage tend to advance prices. Increased cost of distribution. Industrial combination. Organizations of producers or of dealers. Advertising. Increased money supply. Over capitalization. Higher standard of living.

The foregoing findings were gathered by measuring the prices of 257 commodities, included in the price index number of the Bureau of Labor. These commodities were grouped and the advances noted for the different groups during the period from 1900 to 1909, inclusive. The general wholesale price level in the United States advanced during that period 14.5.

The groups show advances as follows: Farm products 39.8; food, etc., 19.7; lumber and building materials 19.6; miscellaneous commodities 14.7; cloths and clothing 12.0; fuel and lighting 6.9; house furnishing goods 5.3; metals and implements 3.6. A decline was shown for drugs and chemicals amounting to 2.9 per cent.

It is shown that the greatest advances have taken place in the products of the soil.

Concerning retail prices the report shows that in the United States in the Spring of 1910 they were at the highest point reached for many years. As compared with the Spring of 1900 prices for bacon were more than 70 per cent. higher ham was 33 per cent. higher; flour was about 50 per cent. higher, butter about 45 per cent higher; sugar about 12 per cent. higher and eggs 100 per cent.. higher. Some few articles, such as coffee and tea were about the same price as in 1900, but practically no articles of food were lower than in 1900. Furniture was about the same price as in 1900. Earthenware was slightly lower. Shoes and clothing were considerably higher.

MEDICAL SOCIETY SESSIONS CLOSE

Charlotte Gets Next Meeting of Physicians of the State.

SALISBURIAN IS PRESIDENT

Hookworm Conference Featured Yesterday's Meeting of General Body—Campaign is on in Earnest—Officers.

What is generally conceded to have been one of the largest attended and most profitable annual gatherings in the history of the North Carolina Medical Society, and, apparently, the most harmonious in many years, came to an end at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and a large number of the physicians and members of their families left on afternoon and evening trains for their homes. But a larger number than usual remained over for a few days to enjoy the surf and fishing at the beach. Yesterday's sessions were featured by the annual election of officers, selection of the next meeting place and conference on the hookworm disease.

The hookworm conference will doubtless be productive of great good. The assembly hall was crowded with interested physicians who desired to learn everything possible about the parasite that is said to have such a tremendous hold on the people of North Carolina, particularly in the rural districts, and they declare it their intention to go home and wage a determined and persistent war on the life-sapping disease. They will not only conduct an educational campaign, but will begin treatment of many of the present victims, it having been stated in the meeting that results from the treatment have been little short of wonderful. The papers on the disease were read by Dr. Chas. W. Stiles, scientific secretary of the Rockefeller Hookworm Commission, and Dr. J. A. Ferrell, assistant secretary for the Eradication of the disease. The reading of the papers and the discussion which followed consumed more than two hours.

The expected fight between two reputed factions of the body did not materialize. It was expected that the recommendations contained in President Wood's address would be passed upon at this session, probably precipitating lively debate, but Dr. Wood's suggestion that a report be made at the next session prevailed, the committee not being appointed until just before adjournment.

The hotel and boarding house accommodations have been taxed to their utmost during the past few days but the guests were all comfortably quartered. The physicians had their headquarters at Tarrymoore Hotel and with few exceptions all were guests of the popular hostelry. The doctors depart praising the management for the splendid manner in which the situation was handled.

Just before the meeting of the House of Delegates a pellagra patient, a lady, was exhibited by Dr. Edward J. Wood, of this city, the retiring president of the society. The patient was seen with great interest by a large number of the physicians, some of whom had never seen a typical case of pellagra before. Dr. Wood said that the case was of the Italian type, which is very rare.

House of Delegates.

The session of the House of Delegates was presided over by Dr. Edw. J Wood and Secretary Stanton was at his post. The first thing was a report from the nominating committee, submitted by Dr. J. Howell Way, of Waynesville. It was stated in the report that an entirely new board of councillors was given the society and that with the co-operation of the members of the organization will be able to submit a report next year that will be encouraging. Officers were named as follows:

President—Dr. C. M. Poole, Salisbury.

First Vice President—Dr. J. V. McGougan, Fayetteville.

Second Vice President—Dr. W. E. Warren, Williamston.

Third Vice President—Dr. L. N. Glenn, Gastonia.

Secretary for Two Years—Dr. D. A. Stanton, High Point. Dr. Stanton was elected last year for three years.

Treasurer—Dr. H. D. Walker, Elizabeth City.

Councillors for three years, representing the ten districts of the State in the order named—Dr. J. L. Spruill, Columbia; Dr. K. P. B. Bonner, Morehead City; Dr. G. L. Sikes, Salisbury; Dr. J. J. Phillips, Tarboro; Dr. W. P. Holt, Suke; Dr. R. L. Felts, Durham; Dr. A. J. Crowell, Charlotte; Dr. R. O. Dees, Greensboro; Dr. A. A. Kent, Lenoir; Dr. M. L. Stevens, Asheville.

Dr. S. A. Templeton, of Carey, was named as orator; Dr. S. A. Stevens, of Monroe, essayist; Dr. John McCampell, Morganton, leader of debate.

Committee on Public Policy and Legislation—Dr. R. H. Lewis, Raleigh; Dr. G. G. Thomas, Wilmington; Dr. L. P. McBrayer, Asheville.

Committee on Scientific Work—Dr. D. A. Stanton; Dr. E. J. Wood; Dr. W.

Ineffectiveness of Gehring, who was sent in to pitch the opening frames for the locals, while his opponent on the ridge, Mayer, for the Highlanders, held the Sailors tight to four hits during the nine innings, combined with several bobbles at critical stages, gave the opening game on the local grounds yesterday to Fayetteville, score 6 to 1.

Hawkins was sent in to pitch the last five innings and held the heavy-hitting Kilties to three lonesome bingles, but was too late then to recover. Fayetteville started trouble in the very first session when Mullen drew four wide ones and Dubbs was safe on error of snort; Schumaker then singled and stole second, scoring Mullen while Dobson was caught between second and third. O'Halloran was then out second to first, but Schumaker went to third and scored when Donovan hit a screamer to right for two bases. Bunting fanned.

Bot. teams were out practically in order for the next sessions until the fourth when O'Halloran was given a constitutional and was sacrificed by Donovan, an error on third of Bunting's hit and a pass to McEnroe filling the bags. Galvin was then safe on error in left, scoring O'Halloran; Mayer then hit to first and went to second while Bunting scored; Mullen up and McEnroe was caught attempting to squeeze home, Mayer going to third; two more Kilties crossing the rubber while Mullen was being given life on error of second and Dobson was flying to centre. Wilmington scored in its half when Dubbs walked and Tydeman was safe on error of second, Dubbs scoring when Mills skied to centre. Doak got in a neat bingle in the same session, but there were no more runs.

In the fifth with two down Kluttz got a beautiful drive to left field fence for two bases but it availed naught. Hawkins had been sent to the ridge in the meantime and held the Highlanders down well, but it was too late to retrieve. The tabulated score tells the story:

"Moans"

Crimped!

Foiled again.

And nigh a shut-out.

Wilson has released Brady.

They stole pretty regularly on us.

Our Gehring slipped a cog; that's all.

Those pesky errors were on the increase.

Mayer fanned two Sailors in the 2nd and 3rd innings.

Manager Kite stabled himself in the 4th a la Fred Clarke.

The Kilties added another to their long string of victories.

The attendance was gratifying, but there should be a larger crowd today.

The Kilties enjoyed a few constitutionals at the expense of the Sailor pitcher.

Gehring suffered a flare back in the 4th, after which Hawkins took up his burdens.

One of Kluttz' bingles was for an extra base; and Donovan got one of the same kind.

Kluttz and Doak were the only locals that could touch Mayer; each getting a couple of hits.

Scouts have been at Fayetteville, Wilson and Goldsboro the past few days looking the boys over.

Lefty Wysong has been released by Wadesboro and signed by Jonesboro-Sanford In the Pee Dee League.

Tydeman failed to land a hit, and fanned twice; at the same time he's already made a record to be proud of.

And Wilson lost again; and this time to Rocky Mount; Things are breaking rough for the Tobacconists.

Hawkins only allowed three hits during his sessions and kept those spread as far apart as the town limits of Charlotte.

Hawkins whiffed the Kilties two mightiest batters, Schumaker and O'Halloran, first up in the 5th, and all this with a cold arm.

That was some kind of a game at Raleigh; sixteen chapters without a tally, and a minimum of hits, considering the innings, on both sides.

We told that Wilson dopist sometime back he'd better quit crowing, but he didn't remember Chantecler, and now look what's being done to his pets.

The two port wheelers, Howard and Waymack, will probably preside over the destinies of the twist station this afternoon, and a good game will be served up.

Everybody turned out today and encouraged the boys. With a little ginger in the crowd they will put up a stiff front, and show the Highlanders what ball playing really is.

Bloomer Girls at Mount Olive.
(Mount Olive Tribune.)

Mount Olive is promised something rich, rare and racy in the baseball line on Wednesday afternoon of next week, the 29th, when the "Western Bloomer Girl Club" cross bats with our local team. The bloomer girls are tour ing the State, and are attracting large crows wherever they go. Mount Olive will prove no exception to the rule, as the game will be something strictly out of the ordinary. The game will be called at 4 P. M., and the admission will be 25 cents.

RETAIL HARDWARE MEN.

Association of Carolinas to Meet in Charleston in July.

The Retail Hardware Association of the Carolinas meets in Charleston, S. C., July 12-14.

Mr. T. W. Dixon, of Charlotte, is secretary and treasurer of the association. The other officers are:

President—R. H. McDuffie, of Fayetteville.

First Vice President—W. H. Smith, of Gaffney, S. C.

Second Vice President—A. L. Phipps, Durham.

Third vice president—M. Bonoitt, Darlington, S. C.

Secretary and Treasurer—T. W. Dixon, Charlotte.

Executive Committee—R. H. McDuffie, W. H. Smith, A. L. Phipps, M. Bonnoitt, W. N. Everett, Rockingham, N. C.; E. W. Duvall, Cheraw, S. C., and T. W. Dixon.

The association has a membership of 70 firms.

The annual address of the president will be delivered on Wednesday, the 13th. Reports from the membership, insurance, grievance, legislative and transportation committees will be made that day.

Wednesday evening Mr. W. S. Thomas, president of the Thomas Manufacturing Company, of Springfield, O., will make the address.

Thursday the election of officers will take place and the next place of meeting will be chosen.

The "dear old city" will provide a number of entertainments for the visitors including a boat ride around the harbor and big dance at the Isle of Palms.

The Year Book, which is handsomely gotten up is the work of Mr. T. W. Dixon, of Charlotte.

Mr. Dixon is in South Carolina now on business connected with the meeting of the convention. He is accompanied by his family.

Creagan's Swat in Eighth Saved Day for the Tailenders in First Game With Last Year's Champs. Loose Fielding.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 23.—Creagan's swat in the eighth with two down turned victory to the crew in a game that abounded in loose fielding. Both teams put up a poor exhibition, though interest ran high and there was phenomenal fielding at times. Munson was relieved by Thorpe in the Eighth and it was the Chief's taking advantage of battery errors that tied the score in the eighth for the crew. Clapp was hit in the eye by a batted ball in the second, and was forced to retire.

BUSINESS CREED.

Wilmington Wholesale Grocer Sends Out Unique Declaration.

A prominent wholesale grocer and banker of Wilmington is no doubt doing much good and affording an inspiration to many in the promulgation of the following "Business Creed" which is well worth while:

"I believe in the goods I am handling, in the firm I am working for, and in my ability to get results.

"I believe that honest goods can be sold to honest people by honest methods.

"I believe in working, not weeping, in boosting, not knocking, and the pleasure of my job.

"I believe that a man gets what he goes after, that one deed done today is worth two deeds done tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself.

"I believe in today and the work that I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds.

"I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and honest competition.

"I believe that there is something doing somewhere for every man ready to do it. I believe I am ready right now."

SMITH WILL RUN AGAIN.

Georgia Ex-Governor Will be in Race Again.

Atlanta, Ga., June 23.—Former Gov. Hoke Smith, who was defeated for re-election two years ago by Joseph M. Brown, today announced his candidacy for the governorship. Governor Brown is a candidate for re-election.

Roanoke, Va., June 22.—The engine and several cars of a extra Norfolk and Western freight train went through an open draw into the Dismal Swamp canal eight miles out of Norfolk last night. Lewis Robertson a colored brakeman was killed. Engineer E. H. Jenkins and Fireman E. C. Walker escaped by jumping. The engineer and fireman are in St. Vincent's hospital at Norfolk but are not badly hurt.

Brooklyn, June 23.—The game between New York and Brooklyn today was marred by a fight between Arthur Devlin, third baseman for New York, and a spectator. Larry Doyle took a hand to aid his mate and both players were put off the field and later arrested.

At the end of the third inning Devlin rushed across the diamond to the grand stand and struck a spectator who had been nagging him. The spectator struck back and a spirited rally followed. Devlin emerged under arrest, and the spectator with a pair of black eyes. Fans swarmed on the field and somebody narrowly missed Devlin with a bottle. Special officers cleared the field and play was resumed. New York won easily by 8 to 2.

WILL WANT TO RETURN.

Raleigh State Democrat: There is no doubt that the State Press Association will wish to return to Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach at no distant day. Officers of both cities, citizens and the representatives of the Wilmington press gang made the editors feel perfectly at home, and nothing which could add to their pleasure, comfort and enjoyment, was left undone. These two cities by the sea, when joining their efforts cannot be surpassed in hospitality, while the natural resources for real enjoyment are not equalled anywhere. Surely the editors return home well prepared for the work of the Summer.

MISSED A GOOD TIME.

Roanoke Chowan Times:—The editor of this paper could not attend the annual meeting of the Press Association last week, but the excellent reports of the meeting published in the Wilmington Morning Star, one of the best dailies that comes to this office, made up in a large degree our loss in being detained at home. There will be another meeting of the association in January for business only.

Roanoke, Va., June 23.—Indictments were returned here today by the United States grand jury against a number of Roanoke merchants, including the agent of Morris & Company, of Chicago, for violating the oleomargerine law. They are charged with sending out packages of oleomargerine without stamping it "oleomargerine" as required under the law.

We believed that the keeping qualities of beer sealed with corks was superior to that sealed with crown caps. To-day we positively know that retains its brilliancy, effervescence and flavor better when sealed with crown caps. We know this because we have tested thousands of bottles both ways, and these tests compel us to render a verdict in favor of crown caps. Besides, the crowns are infinitely more convenient to both the consumer and the trade. Budweiser is always the same in quality no matter whether sealed with corks or crowns and is bottled only at our home plant in St. Louis.

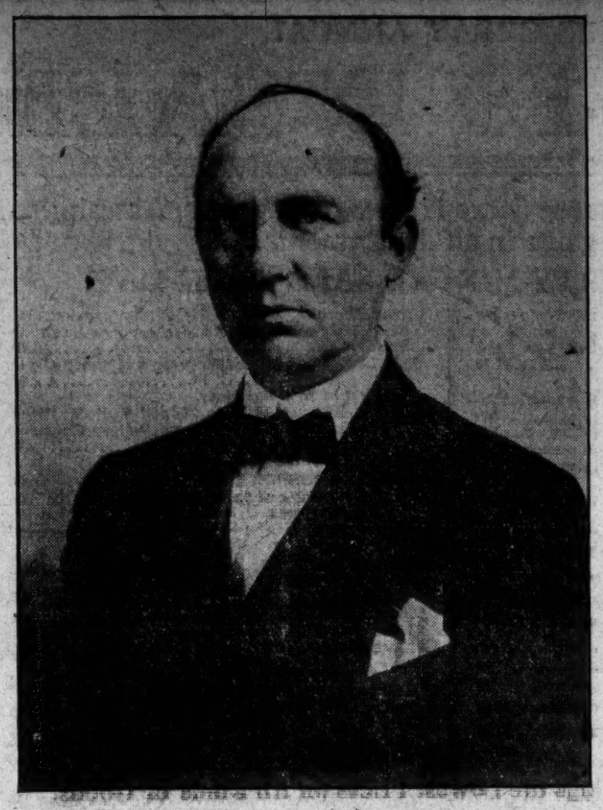
Col. Jos. E. Robinson



A WORD PERSONAL.

It has come to me that a rumor is being circulated throughout this congressional district to the effect that I am no longer a candidate for the nomination for Congress. Such a statement is absolutely without foundation in truth and is a deliberate fabriction of the person who first put it forth.

Without further comment, let me say that I am in the race to the finish and can be retired only by the people of the district in convention assembled whose prerogative it is to name the candidate. I have strictly adhered to this principle of recognizing the sovereignty of the people, and from the time I first published my announcement—last August, before any other candidate had announced himself—to the present I have demeaned myself accordingly. I have importuned no one either in person or by correspondence, nor have I presumed to speak for any other candidate, either to interpret his motives—to the effect that "he is running in the interest of another"—or to forecast his purposes—to the effect that he is no longer a candidate," or that "he will retire before the convention convenes."

I will appreciate whatever vote the district sees fit to give me, and if that vote is sufficient to nominate me I will serve the Democracy of the district in Congress to the best of my ability.

Sincerely,
JOS. E. ROBINSON.

STATE CONVENTION CALLED

Formal Proclamation Issued—Norfolk & Southern Cup—Powell Trial. Several Charters Granted. Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 23.—The formal call is issued by Chairman A. H. Eller and Secretary Alex J. Field, for the Democratic State Convention to meet in Charlotte Thursday, July 14th, at noon, for the nomination of a chief justice and two associate justices of the Supreme Court and two members of the Corporation Commission; to adopt a State platform and transact such other business as may be brought before the convention. Chief Justice Walter Clark and Associate Justices Plat D. Walker and J. S. Manning, are candidates for the nominations to succeed themselves and Justice Manning is the only one having avowed opposition, Superior Court Judge W. R. Allen, of Wayne, being in the race against Judge Manning.

In the nominations for Corporation Commissioner there is a sharper contest with conditions rather mixed. The nominations are to be for the places on the commission now filled by Commissioner S. L. Rogers, of Macon county, and H. C. Brown, of Surry county, whose 18 years' residence in Raleigh as secretary to the commission has given him both central and western claims. Mr. Rogers retires with this term and Mr. Brown was appointed to succeed the late B. F. Aycock and serve until the convention and election. He is a candidate to succeed himself and is opposed by L. C. Bagwell, traveling man of Raleigh. For the western seat there are in the race W. T. Lee, Waynesville; W. A. Graham, Oxford, present speaker of the House; J. H. Pearson, Morganton.

The LaBaume silver loving cup offered by the Norfolk & Southern Railroad Co., through the State Department of Agriculture to the North Carolina farmer boy who exhibits the finest ten ears of corn grown himself, has been received at the Department of Agriculture here ready for presentation this Fall to the winner of the first year. The plan is for it to pass each year for a series of years to the winner for that year, the name of each and the year being engraved on the back of the cup. It is a handsome affair eleven inches high and mounted on an elegant ebony base. The front of the cup bears the inscription: "The LaBaume Cup, awarded to the North Carolina Boy Making the Best Exhibit of Ten Ears of Corn of His Own Raising." The first boy to win the cup twice will become its owner.

Insurance Commissioner Young says he understands the Travelers' Association of Nebraska is flooding the State with circular letters, and he desires to warn the citizens of the State against this association. It is not licensed to do business in North Carolina and under our law its contracts would be null and void and not enforcible in our courts.

Next Monday morning at Warrenton there will begin the trial of E. E. Powell, of Scotland Neck, for the murder of Chief of Police Dunn, of Scotland Neck, there being still pending against him the two other crimes of dangerously shooting State Senator E. L. Travis and Representative Paul Kitchin, brother of Governor Kitchin. Senator Travis is now slowly recovering from the pistol shot wound in his mouth, being under special treatment in a Richmond hospital. It is feared that he will never fully recover.

The Mt. Gilead Cotton Oil Co., of Montgomery county, was chartered today with $20,000 capital by F. Macaulay and others. An amendment to the charter of the Roanoke Rapids Power Co., empowers the corporation to install an electric power plant in addition to its water power, the electric current to be used for both light and power. There is also an amendment for the Coston Auttomobile Co., of Asheville, changing the name to the Standard Motor Car Co., C. V. Reynolds being president.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Fisherman on Trent River Who Had Taken Refuge Under Bridge.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., June 23.—Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Wm. Oast, who is employed by Mr. P. Grenwith, who conducts a blacksmith and repair shop on South Front street, took his boat and rowed out on Trent river to catch a "mess" of fish for his supper. During the time he was engaged in fishing a severe thunder and rain storm came up and he, seeing that it would be impossible to reach shore before the storm broke, rowed his boat under the foot bridge which spans the river.

While he was awaiting for the storm to abate a bolt of lightning struck the water near him and he was knocked unconscious. After the storm had ceased pedestrians crossing the bridge found him lying in the bottom of his boat in this condition. He was carried to his room and a physician summoned and medical aid rendered him. He has not completely recovered from the effects of the shock but no serious results are expected.

CUT UP NOVEL STILL.

One of Those Quick Getaway Contraptions Found in Guilford.

(Greensboro News, June 23.)

Revenue Officers Starbuck, Atkins and Kirkpatrick, returned yesterday morning from near Millboro, in the lower part of Guilford county, 18 miles from Greensboro, where they captured and cut up a blockade still Monday night. No men were arrested and no booze captured.

The still was an unusual arrangement, being described as similar to the large oil tanks carried on railroad cars. On the top of the boiler-like affair was the cap, and on both ends were poles, by means of which two men could hoist the still to their shoulders and get away with it in a hurry. A square cover of tin served as furnace. The barrels in which ferment was kept were hid in the ground, being covered with dirt.

Handsome Residences and Other Improvements in Live Town.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., June 23.—Mr. W. N. Rivenbark, one of our progressive ownsmen, recently purchased of E L. Larkin & Co., their remaining valuable lots on Dickinson street and has already built two nice residences thereon and has a third, which is far nore handsome, nearing completino. A E Burton and W. T. Boardnax have built attractive residences, and the Episcopalians have also erected an exceedingly attractive brick church on the same property. Dickinson street is fast becoming the most popular residence part of town.

Miss Sadie Croom, of Goldsboro, is visiting at the home of Mr. W. N. Rivenbark.

What you may have been calling the "good fortune in business affairs" of someone you know may be simply the courage to advertise.

Mr. Morrow Arrested.

(Monroe Journal.)

Mr. R. A. Morrow, one of the most "peacibles" and law abiding citizens in the world, was arrested yesterday by a United States marshal. Mr. Morrow is the North Carolina representative on the board of directors of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, and this organization has been indicted by the government as being an organization in restraint of trade, and all the officers have been arrested and notified to appear at Birmingham, on the first Monday in August to answer the complaint.

Wadesboro Chief Goes to Lumberton.

(Special to Charlotte Chronicle.)

Wadesboro, N. C., June 22.—H. H. Redfern, formerly chief of police here, has been elected to fill that office at Lumberton, and has accepted to begin work July 1. Mr. Redfern is a fearless officer and his friends are glad that he has secured this position, which carries with it a good salary. Mr. Redfern is with the Seaboard Air Line and will resign his present place.

CONGRESSMAN FOR THE THIRD DISTRICT. A FARMER BOY'S CHOICE.

Mr. Editor, the Star:—With all due deference to the opinions of others, who may feel partial to other candidates, I am going to ask you for sufficient space and printer's ink in your greatly appreciated paper of large circulation in my county to point out a few of the many qualifications of the candidate for Congress for this district whom I am going to support.

1st. A man who has always stood by the Democratic party and worked shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Simmons (our present United States Senator) in redeeming the State from the spoiliation of Republicanism.

2nd. A man, like myself, who from childhood knows the joys and hardships of farm life.

3rd. A man, whose father before him in the role of poorly paid school teacher, proved himself a benefactor to struggling young manhood and young womanhood, who has honored the memory of that father and deserves the gratitude of his fellow countrymen by keeping the cause and means of EDUCATION to the forefront in all his work—in the school house, in the forum and in the public prints.

4th. A man who has always been in sympathy with the cares of young men and young ladies; always delighted to "make a match" and follow "the all-important-event" up by writing in is paper such sweet and inspiring sentiments of double-blessedness as to warrant a copy of The Argus finding suitable filing place among the priceless family treasures along, perhaps, with another copy containing a memorial to the poor departed parent or in eulogy of our Confederate dead.

5th. I am going to vote for him because I know his make-up and wide fame as an orator will be brought into action in his plea for the toiling masses and industrial advancement of this section of Eastern North Carolina.

I refer to Col. Joseph E. Robinson, of Wayne, the Educator and Statesman, my choice first and last.

"This Argus o'er the people's rights

No soothing strains of Maia's son
Can lull its hundred eyes to sleep."

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, PA.

GENTLEMEN:—

I will tell you of a cure I made last week with Mexican Mustang Liniment. Had a hen so bad from a cold that her ears were swollen out as large as a hickory nut and full of matter and thick pus. Applied Mexican Mustang Liniment four times and to-day turned her out with the flock a well hen. Last Winter cured a very bad case of canker with three applications. I use it for nearly everything.

Respectfully yours,
H. L. LAMB.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months, $1.25 for three months, 50 cents for one month, served by carrier in the city or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate, and like matter, will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, or if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under same conditions except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper.

Advertisements discontinued before expiration of contracts are charged transient rates for time actually published. Payment for transient advertisements must be cash in advance. Contract advertisers will not be allowed to exceed their space at same rates or advertise anything foreign to their regular business without extra charge. Advertisements to occupy special place will be charged for according to position desired.

TELEPHONES: Business Office No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms No. 61. Call either if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest, are not wanted; and if acceptable in every other way, they will be invariably rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Friday, June 24, 1910.

An Ohio Republican claims that his party is honest. It is not stated what kind of dope the man is the victim of.

The Georgia Legislature is in session, which means an increased demand for sandwiches and palm leaf fans, and an overproduction of hot air.

A press dispatch from York, Pa., announces that a fifty-pound hailstone fell near there a few days ago. We prefer to take our chances with the ice man than to have chunks of ice like that tumbling down free of charge.

The campaign publicity bill passed by Congress on Thursday provides for publicity of campaign expenditures 90 days after an election. That is entirely too late for the coroner to hold an inquest. It gives the criminal three months' start on the sheriff.

It is said that one hundred telegraphic messages are received every day by a certain man who is supposed to be taking a rest of two months at Oyster Bay. It is hardly necessary to bet our money that the telegraph company is enjoying this disturbance of the gentleman's rest.

President Taft is now getting credit for securing the passage of his administration bills at the hands of Congress, although Congress so mutilated his bills that they wouldn't be recognized at the White House. Taft seems to be the Admiral Sampson in this alleged victory for reform measures.

Aspersions and counter aspersions seem to be the order of the day in Wake County's Democratic factional fight. One side accuses the other of being guilty of "an unjust aspersion." Let us hope both factions are rather more guilty in that respect than that they are actually making truthful disclosures and exposures.

A contemporary inquires: "California suppressed the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight. Where will the fight take place if they are denied the privilege of fighting in Nevada?" Query Raleigh, N. C., and ascertain if it cannot be substituted for the factional fight which has been going on there for about two months. The people might relish the change.

In his paper, the Commoner, the Hon. Wm. J. Bryan propounded to Governor Harmon, of Ohio, a number of questions involving what the Nebraskan considers National issues. Of course, the idea is to get Harmon to give expression to his opinions and formulate some dogmas. Profiting by the experience of Colonel Bryan and his many defeats when the prospects for triumph were flattering, the Ohio Democratic Governor will be very careful about having too many opinions of his own. It frequently occurs that a man can demonstrate wisdom by holding his tongue at critical moments.

One of the great crop wastes in North Carolina is in fruits and vegetables which could be canned at very little expense by our farmers. The fruit season does not last very long and when there is a good crop a large part of it is allowed to fall off the trees and rot or be eaten by hogs. It ought to be canned and preserved for family use or for sale in the Winter months, but unfortunately our people are improvident in this respect. The North Carolina Agricultural Department is endeavoring to introduce the home industry of canning and preserving and has issued a valuable bulletin giving all the details and full information concerning the process of canning and the methods for doing it practically without cost. It is a valuable publication and every farmer can secure it by addressing the Agricultural Department, Raleigh, N. C.

HARMON FOR PRESIDENT.

The action of the State Democratic convention of Ohio, at Dayton on Thursday, assumed National importance. The action of the convention has been carefully watched by the Democracy of the United States because of the probability that Governor Harmon will be the next Presidential nominee of the party in 1912. The Republican party has also looked on with deep interest because they may see in it the first practical movement to bring into prominence the Democrat who may oppose President Taft in the National election two years hence.

The name of Governor Harmon for several months has been conspicuously mentioned among the Democratic possibilities for President but the action of the convention at Dayton makes the Ohio Governor more than ever not only a Presidential possibility, but a Presidential probability. The sturdy and able Harmon was renominated for Governor with great enthusiasm, and, in spite of the Governor's protest, the convention adopted a resolution inviting the attention of the Nation to Judson Harmon and endorsing him for the Presidential nomination by the Democratic party two years from now. The Governor was opposed to his endorsement for the Presidency at this time because he is making his present fight on State issues and did not want National issues injected into the coming campaign in Ohio. However, he was given to understand by his friends and in the action of the convention that it could not be prevented.

Harmon was both nominated for Governor and endorsed for President, so that the campaign in Ohio will involve both the endorsement of his record as Governor and his Presidential fitness and qualifications. The Governor is not only now Ohio's candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, but he is an avowed aspirant himself, if we may judge from the action of the convention with his apparent consent. For instance, the Hon. Atlee Pomerane was nominated for Lieutenant Governor with the understanding that if the ticket is elected Mr. Pomerane is to become Governor within six months when Governor Harmon will resign to prosecute his campaign for the Presidential nomination.

If Governor Harmon carries Ohio in November it will no doubt make him the Democratic nominee for President. With that question fairly before the people of Ohio in this campaign, along with the State issues involved in that campaign, the re-election of Harmon would mean that Ohio would give him her electoral vote when the time comes. It evidently would assure him the Democratic nomination in 1912 and make him a formidable opponent of his fellow statesman in the Presidential election. That would present the singular coincidence of opposing Presidential nominees from the same State.

We get some idea of what the Ohio Democracy thinks of Governor Harmon from the resolution adopted by the State convention. That resolution invites the attention of the Nation to Judson Harmon and "the work he is doing in Ohio." It is agreed that "the work" which the Governor has done has been of great importance and it is significant that his party has endorsed that work and is asking the people of Ohio to endorse it. With confidence the Ohio Democrats present their candidate upon his splendid record and they announce that two years hence his reforms in Ohio will have been completed, then, according to the words of the resolution, "we can spare him for larger duties." The resolution declare that Governor Harmon "believes guilt is personal, is acting on that belief at home, and will act upon it in larger fields." That means that Harmon would not hold an inanimate corporation guilty but believes in fastening the guilt upon the persons who are the real criminals whose deeds constitute the guilt of a corporation.

The Ohio convention says to the Nation that a high sense of duty provides Governor Harmon with his only motives for official action and "his sense of justice alone compels judgment." The resolution continues: "Firmness and strength mark him the man to supplant vaccillation and weakness. The Nation needs a real man and the Ohio Democracy presents and endorses for the Presidency in 1912 Judson Harmon." The resolution was brief but its analysis shows that Gov. Harmon is a big man, without the spectacular elements that really count for nothing with a man who has a real mission and a work to do that is definite. If anything else were needed to give us an insight into the characteristic of Ohio's man for President, we can take his words on the tariff, an issue that has not been settled and will not be settled till the people of this country get rid of some of the burdens which are put upon them by the Republican party for the benefit of special interests who are guaranteed millions of tribute at the expense of the struggling masses.

Some eminent writer has said that the average man struggles between poverty and competency, while only the few get rich or enormously wealthy. It is the average man which the tariff lays tribute upon for the benefit of the class which does not need it. It is no longer a question of protecting "infant industries" and struggling manufacturing interests, but the record is that the Republican party levies a tariff on the people not only to support a very extravagant government, but to empty into the coffers of millionaire corporations, trusts and favorite interests millions that do not represent aid to industries but contributions wrung out of the pockets of consumers. It is more evident every day that a dividend-paying partnership exists between the Republican party and the special interests, and it is made plain from the fact that the political party of the partnership levies a tariff for the enrichment of its predatory partners, while those partners furnish its Republican allies the corruption funds with which to keep their party in power to repeat again and again the mutual benefit performance. Until that ceases the tariff will remain an issue, and two years hence it will be the paramount issue for the people to pass upon.

Upon that question Harmon stands with the people—with the average man who can least afford to bear the burden. He rings loud and true upon that all-important question, as will be seen from the following extract from his speech before the Dayton convention:

"The voters of the country have often been imposed by tariff taxes levied ostensibly for public revenue, but really for private profit. But they were never before fooled by a promise of substantial reductions of these taxes broken in their faces as soon as their votes were secured. A power so insolent in its control of the law-making powers must be overthrown without delay and will be if the American people have not lost their spirit. There can be no relief as long as the interests which profit through tariff laws are allowed to frame them, as thus far they have always done. It has just been shown, in the most striking way, that these have complete command of the Republican party, as an organization. Insurgency is merely a protest. They scoff at it. The only agency by which they can be dislodged is the Democratic party.

"The election of State officers will turn, as it should, on the important home affairs which are now the chief concern of our citizens. I shall refuse to be drawn away from these. What the present administration has done and tried to do, is known to all, and the question is, shall it be approved or condemned? But good government means just the same in Washington as it does in Columbus, and if the discussions which the State campaign involve shall help the voters to elevate the public service in both capitals at once, I shall be doubly glad to have had a part in them."

Governor Harmon referred to the honor accorded him by the Democracy of Ohio and the renewal of confidence and continued:

"I shall keep on trying to make the phrase 'serving the people' a true description and not a false pretense or a figure of speech. It expresses the idea of Democratic government. A chief magistrate does not serve the people who used the powers entrusted to him to advance his own or any other than the public interest, or fails to use it to safeguard the general welfare whenever it is endangered by neglect, incompetence, wrong doing, or the passage of unwise or unconstitutional laws.

"Efforts to continue reform in the State will have a further effect this year. The need of reform is still greater in the Federal government and it can be met in the election of Congressmen. The waste of public funds, which, to the extent of three hundred million dollars, is openly confessed, is well worth looking after, especially now when the people, who have to make it up, are everywhere struggling to meet the cost of living. And neither economy nor watchful regard for the common welfare is possible in Washington while the reign of the favored goes on and the practical genius of our people finds such small expressions in the conduct of their public business."

NORTH CAROLINA'S PULL.

The North Carolina delegation in Congress appears to have had a big pull during this session and evidently it was united "for the flag and an appropriation." The members secured more than $1,000,000 for public buildings in North Carolina cities and towns. It is said that in this respect North Carolina fared better than any other State that got into Uncle Sam's strong box.

The city of Charlotte is to be congratulated upon having secured an appropriation of $250,000 for a new postoffice building, which added to the value of the present property, estimated at $60,000, will give the Queen City a public building that will represent a cost of about $300,000. It is said that no other city in the Union of Charlotte's size has received so large an appropriation, but it is none too small, for Charlotte's size will rapidly grow up to it. The Star is glad to note also that Raleigh probably will get $225,000 for a public building, and if any city deserves it North Carolina's capital city does. Other North Carolina towns which received building appropriations were as follows: Hickory, $60,000; Oxford, $50,000; Tarboro, $50,000; Monroe, $50,000; Greenville, increased to $55,000. Shelby came in for an appropriation of $10,000 for a building site.

The Hon. E. Yates Webb, the Democratic Congressman from the Ninth North Carolina District, worked the rapid foot for $310,000 for public buildings in different towns in his district. That amounts to nearly one-third the public buildings appropriations for the entire State. While it may have been a better idea to have distributed the Federal bounty throughout the State, it can be said that North Carolina got only what she deserved. In the internal revenue taxes paid by North Carolina's tobacco industries, corporations, etc., the Old North State is one of the government's chief tax-payers, Uncle Sam's books showing that North Carolina pays the government more than 12 of some of the interior States.

Another good reason is that heretofore North Carolina has not been awarded a just share of public buildings, Uncle Sam having very few really creditable North Carolina establishments except the handsome brownstone Federal court and postoffice building in Wilmington. North Carolina's growing port is to have a new Custom House that is to cost about a half million dollars, but the appropriation for that handsome structure soon to be erected, was secured from the previous Congress. Even a half million dollar Custom House for Wilmington is a meagre and tardy recognition of one of the South Atlantic ports which has made big gain in its commerce during the past ten years.

It is estimated that Wilmington's foreign and coastwise commerce is about $65,000,000 annually and the importance of the port is further illustrated by the fact that the port does an import business which pays Uncle Sam $30,000 or more a year in tariff duties, not to mention importations that come in duty free.

Weather like that which we have had the last few days is condusive to an increase of the membership of the Will Not Work Circle.

A scientist claims that the sun can be utilized for cooking. We believe it, for the dispatches tell us that the people in New York have been "roasted" by the weather during the past week.

THE STEWART CASE.

Harnett County Widow Severely Arraigns Congressman H. L. Godwin.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 23.—Mrs. Rebecca Stewart, widow of the late William Anderson Stewart of Harnett county, whose tragic death about one year ago on the A. C. L. Railroad at Dunn, resulted in a suit against that company in which H. L. Godwin was chief counsel for the executor, H. C. McNeill, is out in a signed statement directed to the voters of the Sixth congressional district, denouncing Mr. Godwin in unmeasured terms, and giving what she says is a true statement as to his connection with the case. That he acted against her consent in compromising for $10,320, less than the jury gave a verdict for, and stating further that she had asked Mr. McNeill, the executor, not to employ the firm of Godwin & Townsend, as her husband had expressed to her his feelings about Mr. Godwin in regard to the treatment of some orphan children. The statement is quite a lengthy one and in it, Mrs. Stewart states that Godwin acted in extreme bad faith with her, the widow of his benefactor, W. A. Stewart, and calling upon the people of the district to rebuke such a man.

BATTLESHIP IDAHO WINS

Best Hitter in the American Navy. South Carolina Second Place.

Washington, June 23.—The battleship Idaho is to enjoy for a year the coveted official honor of being the best hitter in the American navy. A comparison of the shooting performance of the battleships this year was made public today at the Navy Department. The Idano made a score with her guns of 46.121. The South Carolina gets second place with a score of 42.585 and the Wisconsin third with a score of 40.478.

The battleships are competing for a trophy, their rank depending not only upon the hits of the guns, but upon their work with mines and torpedoes. While the target practice has been concluded by the battleships, only a few have done the required mining. Of these the Wisconsin stands at the head of those which have completed the competition with a score of 45.394. The Maryland scored with 37.587, and the West Virginia with 22.264.

Of the vessels competing for the cruiser trophy for gunnery the Charleston now leads with a score of 21.075. In the competition for the gunboat trophy, the Mayflower stands at the head of the list of those that have fired with a score of 6.612. Among the vessels competing for the torpedo trophy the Preble is the victor with a score of 90.928. One of her competitors, the Rowan is credited with a score of only 0.055.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

SAD DEATH OF MRS. J. H. BEERY

Most Estimable Woman Passed Away Last Night, Following Stroke of Paralysis—Leaves Void in Home and Church.

Hundreds of friends and relatives were shocked and saddened last night when it was announced that Mrs. Ellie Trammel Beery, wife of Mr. John H. Beery, had passed away at 7:45 P. M., at her home, No. 208 North Seventh street, following a stroke of paralysis suffered at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Scores of friends called at the grief-stricken home during the evening and offered their condolences to those so sorely bereaved.

Mrs. Beery was born July 26th, 1858, making her, therefore, in the 52nd year of her age, and was a daughter of the late Col. C. L. Grafflin. She was twice married, her first husband being Mr. Enoch T. Hancock and from this union the following children survive: Messrs. E. T., George and Lewis Hancock and Mrs. Sibyl Hewlett. After Mr. Hancock's death she married Mr. J. H. Beery, who with three children, Misses Lida and Marguerette and Sallie Beery survive. Besides those named above, Mrs. Beery is survive dby one brother, Mr. John L. Grafflin, of Wilmington; two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Medlin, of Bennettsville, S. C., and Mrs. J. W. Potter, of Edenton, N. C. Mr Beery was at Bolton when he received a telegram announcing the sudden and unexpected death of his wife and left immediately, arriving here on the late Coast Line train last night. Mrs. Beery's young daughter left yesterday morning for Edenton to visit their half-sister, Mrs. J. W. Potter, and their mother expected to join them there next Monday. Accompanied by Mrs. Potter they will arrive today to attend the funeral services, arrangements for which will be announced later.

Truly a good woman has gone to her reward. Mrs. Beery will not only be missed in the home she loved so well, but Trinity Methodist Church, in which she was a prominent worker for many years, suffers an irreparable loss. She was president and teacher of the Philathea class of Trinity Church, organized a short time ago with 32 active members, all of whom are deeply grieved at her death. She was also president of the Junior Epworth League which office she had filled for a number of years. The League is composed of children under 12 years old and under the leadership of Mrs. Beery, was one of the most active organizations within the church. Mrs. Beery was also an active member of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. The entire congregation is bowed down in grief over the announcement of her death. Her pastor, Rev. E. R. Welch, stated last night that she was undoubtedly the strongest and most useful member of the congregation.

Mrs. Beery had not had the best of health for some time past, but she was not to say ill. Yesterday morning she was as well as usual and the stroke of paralysis in the afternoon came as unexpected as the announcement of her death last night. Many friends in this city and section tenderly sympathize with the bereaved ones.

NURSES' EXAMINING BOARD.

No Public Announcement of Successful Applicants.

The North Carolina Trained Nurses' Examining Board, which has been in session at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, since Tuesday, practically finished its work at the annual meeting held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Though it is known that some of the 38 applicants passed successfully the examinations, no public announcement is made by the board for the reason that some papers have not been graded on all subjects. It was stated by members of the board that no public announcement would be made, but that in a week or ten days, or whenever the grading of the papers has been finished, the secretary will send a certificate to each of the successful applicants for license. The old officers hold over for another year. It was stated that only routine matters were considered at the annual meeting yesterday.

PEARSON FOUND GUILTY

Grocer Fined $100 for Selling Liquor. Appeal to Higher Court.

Before Acting Recorder George Harriss at a morning and afternoon session of the Recorder's Court yesterday, W. E. Pearson, the grocer at 13th and Market streets, charged with selling liquor to Jerry Hobbs, on or about April 15th, was found guilty and fined $100 and costs, from which defendant's attorneys, Messrs. A. J. Marshall and Woodus Kellum, took an appeal to the Superior Court, Mr. Kellum becoming surety in the sum of $200 for his client. The prosecution was represented by County Attorney Marsden Bellamy and K. C. Sidbury, Esq., of this city, and Frank Wooten, Esq., of Onslow. Mr. Sidbury became surety for his client. Hobbs, in the sum of $100. Other cases before the Recorder yesterday were trifling.

Big Excursion From Charlotte.

A big two-day excursion from Charlotte is expected to arrive here Tuesday and the Charlotte papers seem to indicate that a very large crowd will take advantage of the trip. CHARLTON ADMITS LAKE COMO CRIME

script:

"I have been informed that C. K. Ispolatoff has been implicated and I wish to state that this gentleman is absolutely guiltless. I have no defense to make and don't wish to.

(Signed) "PORTER CHARLTON."

The C. K. Ispolatoff to whom Charlton refers as having been suspected by the police of some knowledge of the tragedy, is presumably Constantine Ispolatoff, the Russian, who became acquainted with the Charltons while they occupied the villa on the shore of Lake Como and who, following the discovery of the woman's body, was detained and examined by the authorities. The Russian established to the satisfaction of the authorities that he knew nothing of the crime beyond what was known to everyone and recently he was released.

"Don't you know that the autopsy showed that your wife was not dead when she was put in the trunk?" one of the detectives asked the prisoner.

For the first time since Capt. Scott left the room, Charlton lost his self-control.

"Oh, my God, it couldn't be," he cried. "She must have been dead."

The youth showed a curious desire to protect the reputation of the woman he killed and refused to answer questions bearing on her life abroad.

"Is my wife's name going to appear in this?" was one of his first questions.

After Charlton had been led away to a cell, Capt. Scott told his story.

"Several days ago," he saidl, "I made up my mind that Porter Charlton would come back to this country. He had no friends in Europe and it would be his natural impulse to come home. Yesterday I learned that the Deutchland was due here today and late at night I got ten days' leave of absence and made up my mind to go to New York and personally watch every incoming steamer."

"In New York," continued Capt. Scott, "I went first to the National City Bank, where Charlton was employed. There I obtained a description of the man and a sample of his handwriting. Then I went to Hoboken and saw Chief of Police Hayes. I found that he had laid all traps for the apprehension of Charlton at the steamers. While I was giving him the description of the man I was informed that the Princess Irene had just docked. Although I had made arrangement to meet the Deutschland down the harbor with a tug I hastened to the North German Lloyd dock. The Princess Irene had just discharged her passengers and the custom officers were examining their baggage. Three detectives were with me. I looked in two or three stalls and in the last I saw a young fellow I thought answered the description of Charlton. He was looking about him and his hands trembled slightly as he opened his bags for the inspectors. We went up to him and I asked: 'Aren't you Porter Charlton?' He denied this emphatically and told us that his name was Jack Coleman."

The captain here described him, he hesitated to order the man's arrest and forced Charlton to write his signature which tallied so accurately with a sample in his possession that he felt sure that no mistake was being made. Charlton was then taken to headquarters where he again signed his name. Again there was marked resemblance with the handwriting in Scott's possession, but there was yet doubt in the minds of the police until they examined the inside of a small collar bag.

There they found a tag such as attached to clothing. It was lettered P. Charlton. Several sheets of paper covered with typewritten verses were found also and one of these bore the signature John Rodney (Porter Charlton). The former apparently a pen name.

When the youth saw this evidence he stepped close to Chief Hayes and said, "Yes, I'm Porter Charlton. I admit it."

Then he glanced fearfully at his brother-in-law. "I won't make any statement in the presence of Capt. Scott," he declared tremblingly. "I'll tell everything; only get Capt. Scott out of the room."

Scott withdrew and the youth then told his terrible story. Finishing, he added calmly, almost smugly, "I have no defense to make. No defense."

Charlton looked anything but capable of the deed to which he has confessed. Self-confessed murderer though he is, Charlton is not without resources. Soon after he was locked up, he got an attorney, and his father, Judge Charlton, arrived in Hoboken tonight to look after his son's case. The young man will be arraigned before Recorder McGovern at 9 o'clock tomorrow as a fugitive from justice and the disposition of his case from that time probably will rest with the Federal authorities.

As soon as Gustave Di Rosa, the Italian consul at New York learned of Charlton's arrest he cabled his government for instructions. He believed tonight that he would be ordered to make application tomorrow for extradition for trial in Italy.

While life imprisonment is the severest penalty Charlton could pay for his crime under the Italian law, it is expected that his family will endeavor to keep him in this country. Attorneys here and in Washington think that in this they have a good chance of success.

Washington, June 21.—Mrs. Hattie Gorman, widow of the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, of Maryland, died at her home here tonight at the age of 75, after a lingering illness. Since the death of her husband in 1906, Mrs. Gorman has made her home here. She was a prominent worker in the New York Avenue Presbyterian church here and gave liberally to charity.

once made favoring the adoption of the same, but Col. Bruton requested that action not be taken merely out of courtesy to him but preferred that the resolution be discussed. It was then made a special order for this morning immediately after the conclusion of the addresses.

Among the speakers on the subject was Mr. Henry C. McQueen, president of the Murchison National Bank. He declared that the banks should demand fair treatment and justice, saying that everybody knows the banks are discriminated against. He thought it a good idea to interest all stockholders.

Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, chairman of the committee on groups, stated that his committee was not ready to submit a report as it was necessary to get certain data and thought it would be a good idea to let the incoming administration handle the matter. Upon motion it was decided to continue the same committee.

Mr. George E. Allen, educational director of the American Institute of Banking, New York, delivered a most interesting address on Knowledge and Wisdom."

He said in part:

Mr. President this is a most delightful place, and ladies and gentlemen you are charming people but the pleasure of being with you is marked by a great disappointment. My long cherished ideas and ideals of Southern gentlemen and Southern chivalry have been shattered. You are known the world over for the idolization of your women but when I see the mothers and daughters of the South with their eyes of spiritualized diamonds, their cheeks of crystalized sunshine and their hearts of Heavenly fire, I see no credit in you for admiring them. Chivalry has to me been shattered, but perhaps that may be a part of the lesson of what I am here to talk about.

Knowledge is an accumulation of facts in the brain and may or may not be of any practical use; wisdom is the ability to distinguish between facts and get the proper relationshp between things. Adam and Eve got knowledge but did not get wisdom until put out of the Garden of Eden to do or die.

Mr. Allen then explained the methods used by the American Institute of Banking and the ways young financiers are taught in the cities and on down to the small towns.

He thought the young banker should be encouraged in the study of financial questions, and said while the subject might appear to be an easy one that this very fact prevented many from paying the attention to the subject they should. He said he greatly regretted the much loose talk and thought on the great financial matters of the time. The speaker in this connection referred to the postal savings bank bill and the central bank idea. Mr. Allen takes the ground that because a certain kind of banking institution is a success in some European country it is no reason why it should be a success here. Of the various methods in other countries he thought the system in Europe probably the best, or at least the one that we might look into with advantage.

Mr. Allen said there was too much provincialism, and that perhaps New York was worse in this respect than most parts of the country. He declared that they believed the great injury the South suffered as result of the civil war was brought about more from a lack understanding between the people in the different sections of the country than by the issues of the day.

Young bankers, he said, were probably the best class of young men to be found in the country and this was due to their environment. He said he had never told a young banker to be honest, for with bankers honesty must be taken as a fact and never to be questioned.

In conclusion he said: What I have endeavored to impress is that the banker perhaps more than any one else must have a combination of knowledge and wisdom. There are in banking two distinct and conspicuous classes—one is the man whose head is a store house of facts, and the other is the man who thinks he can substitute the glad hand and the glib tongue for substantial character and conscience. Now those things are all good in their way. You cannot have too much abstract knowledge or too much good fellowship, but it is necessary to have the combination of those things. There must be the cold gray matter of the brain, the warm red blood of the heart, and the pure white of the soul. Not one but all of these qualities to make the kind of men, the kind of husbands and fathers, the kind of citizens necessary to build up and better your great State, your matchless nation, and to participate in the affairs of the world which God created and said Himself was good.

Mr. Alf A. Thompson, vice president of the Commercial National Bank, Raleigh, next addressed the convention. His address will be found in another column.

The appointment of the following committees was announced by the president:

Resolutions—J. F. Bruton, Wilson, chairman; E. B. Crow, Raleigh; R. M. Fitzpatrick, Asheville; J. B. Blades, Greensboro; W. H. Mendenhall, Lexington.

Nominations—J. Elwood Cox, High Point, chairman; L. A. Bethune, Clinton; A. B. McMillan, Fayetteville; A. G. Myers, Gastonia; T. W. Watson, Jacksonville; W. H. Twitty, Charlotte; L. E. Boyles, Murphy.

Auditing—H. McKinnon, Clinton, chairman; T. A. Uzzell, Newbern; W. H. Worth, Jefferson.

Groups—W. C. Wilkinson, Charlotte, chairman; Leake S. Covington, Rockingham; George A. Holderness, Tarboro; L. A. Bethune, Clinton, and R. G. Vaugnan, Greensboro.

Telegrams expressing regrets at inability to be present were read by the secretary from Mr. Thomas Gilliam, of Windsor; Mr. Giles L. Wilson, secretary of the South Carolina Bankers Association; Mr. Alex D. Campbell, of the Hanover National Bank, New York; Mr. R. F. Vaughan, Greensboro; Mr. Louis E. Pearson, president of the American Bankers Association; Hon. J. Y. Joyner, Raleigh; Mr. D. A. Tompkins, Charlotte.

The convention then adjourned for the day, and at 1 o'clock the bankers boarded special cars for the city and at 2 o'clock embarked on the steamer "Wilmington" for a trip on the Cape Fear. Luncheon was served on the boat by the Wilmington Clearing House Association, assisted by several ladies from the city. The visitors were greatly impressed with the advantages of this port and what a thirty-foot channel will mean not only to Wilmington but to the entire State.

Every thing passed off delightfully on the boat and the visitors expressed themselves as having enjoyed the day immensely.

Last night a souvenir dance was given at Lumina by the Tidewater Power Company complimentary to the visiting bankers and the magnificent pavilion had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. The ballroom was decorated with many lanterns, and in addition to these were large dollar-sign transparencies in the port openings, and large iron frames in the shape of dollar signs covered with paper festooning. The latter were suspended from the ceiling over the ballroom floor. Two large North Carolina flags floated over the heads of the dancers.

The favors were pretty baskets decorated with many colored ribbons. These were given to the ladies as they formed in line for the grand march.

Today's Programme.

The session this morning will be the most important of the convention. Col. John F. Bruton, president of the First National Bank, of Wilson, will deliver an address on "Bank Taxation;" Mr. Henry E. Litchford, cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, Raleigh, will address the bankers on the "Torrens System of Land Registration," a matter that will probably receive the serious consideration of the next general assembly; and an address on "Capital of Banks" will be delivered by Mr. L. W. Norman, cashier of the Hertford Banking Company, Hertford.

Following the addresses will be a free discussion on any subject that may be brought before the body. At this meeting the resolution offered by Col. Bruton on taxation of the banks will be discussed. Reports of committees will be received, officers elected, and next place of meeting decided upon.

NASHVILLE TOURNAMENT.

Flight of Hamilton a Feature—Secretary Dickinson Present.

Nashville, Tenn. June 21.—The programme of the military tournament was carried out today before immense throngs of people and in ideal weather. Aviator Hamilton gave two interesting flights in his biplane and in the morning Secretary of War Dickinson was given a barbecue at the Hermitage, the old home of Andrew Jackson, at which the soldiers here for the tournament was also guests. Immediately after making a brief address at the barbecue, Secretary Dickinson left Nashville for Chicago whence he goes to San Francisco to start for the Philippines and a tour around the world.

Hamilton traveled about 12 miles in his two flights, attaining a velocity of 45 or 55 miles an hour, his highest altitude being 1,000 feet. He was in the air for 16 minutes in the first flight and 21 minutes on the second trip. From a height of 800 feet he made a thrilling "glide" with the engine shut off, rising and dipping again and again in the descent like a great swallow, at length gently settling on the soft turf.

Sumter, S. C., June 22.—The biennial canvass from county to county by candidates for State offices and Congress in the Democratic primaries commenced with today's meeting here.

A Woman's Great Idea

is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them. 50c. at Robert R Bellamy's.

RELATIONS BETWEEN BANKERS

Interesting and Helpful Address Yesterday by Mr. A. A. Thompson, of Raleigh, Before State Association.

Mr. Alf. A. Thompson, vice president of the Commercial National Bank, Raleigh, and one of the most prominent business men of the Capital City, made an address on the "Cordial Relations Between Bankers—Investments That Will Give Good Returns." before the State convention at Wrightsville Beach yesterday, having been given closest attention. He said:

The proverb, "Competition is the life of trade," is generally accepted as true and it is equally true that it worries the life out of the competitors and cuts into their profits as well.

When the world first made use of the expression and stamped its approval no doubt reference was made to business of a village or of a town; but under present conditions business of almost all kinds has overflowed neighborhood boundaries and extends not only far beyond counties but into adjoining and distant States.

The larger corporations, quickly realizing the changing conditions met the situation either by absorbing or crushing competitors so that in many very important lines competition has been eliminated, and yet business continues to expand and abundant life is still in evidence.

Railroads traversing States once fought vigorously over the limited amount of business offering have found that "an understanding" as the traffic grew in proportion, would enable them to satisfy existing stockholders and multiply both stock and bond issues.

Even in your own business there have been repeated instances where large institutions have, by combining their resources, eliminating both expense and competition, gathered rich returns in increased business and advancing shares.

All this has been going on in the face of the President and Congress and in spite of Corporation Commissions, both State and National. These things are referred to, to prove that "an understanding" pays—the closer the better.

In North Carolina and in your business particularly, such close affiliations may be possible, but at present they are neither practicable nor desirable; but a better understanding and more cordial relations could in my opinion, be established without sapping the life of trade and without destroying legitimate competition and should in fact make the lives of each of you easier and your shareholders better satisfied.

How, you may ask, can you put your theories on a working basis? My first answer is that this very meeting is a step in the right direction. Cordiality could not exist between strangers, hence the necessity of making each other's acquaintance and cementing it into friendship.

The clearing house in the larger cities is another step but you should not stop by forming such associations, but should have frequent meetings every year, discuss problems common to all and arrive at the best solution of these problems and then faithfully carry out the conclusion.

In counties having no clearing house the banks in these counties should adopt some plan that would enable them to meet and remove as far as possible causes of friction.

In ordinary affairs of life each of you have found out "that what you give you get." Rarely will it be found that a crusty, crafty, canny nature knows anything about cordial relations and if any of you are cultivating these characteristics stop it, or you will bring them to a full fruition and find that at the same time you have been sowing a crop of tares which in time of harvest will trouble you no little. Better not sow them now and save the trouble of gathering them later to be burned.

I have suggested a few things that should be done to promote cordial relations, I now want to suggest a few things to be avoided if you wish to be on good terms with your neighbors.

1. Don't make a special effort to get away from your neighbor one of his long standing customers, by personal solicitations, offering inducements in the way of cutting rates, paying directly or indirectly, a premium for the account simply for the purpose of breaking the relationship which has hitherto existed. Every man who has been in business, for even a few years, knows about what it costs the other man to do the same kind of business and when he realizes he has lost a customer because you have agreed to take business at what he knows to be a loss to yourself, he very naturally resents it and retaliates.

2. Every banker should realize that he must not only show large lines of deposits but must also have for his work a legitimate profit. When he does business simply to make a show (and thereby places himself where he will have to take short cuts to make profits satisfactory to stockholders) he does not encourage cordial co-operation with the more conservative bankers.

3. Don't allow yourself to believe that your neighbors who have been in business as long as you have, do not know that you are securing business along what is considered unsafe lines.

4. Don't try to make impression on the public that your bank is the only one in the community which can give them the facilities which their business justifies and that the other banks are either not up-to-date in methods of banking or have been changing too much for their services.

5. The banks in a community should as far as possible, uphold the dealings of one another, with their respective customers, so far as they have been fair and right and with what you know to be a legitimate profit. There is no business in which this is more necessary than in yours, for the fact is this—when prosperity comes all the banks share in it; if calamity comes it is equally true that all suffer from it. In other words, a bank doing a conservative, safe and legitimate business, may be called upon, in times of need, to uphold a bank which has been doing its business in the days of prosperity along a line which is well known to be on too close a profit-margin and rather of a sensational nature.

6. A new bank opening up in a community should be thoroughly informed as to the conditions existing in the said community, regarding the banking business. If there has previously existed a written or unwritten law governing methods o fsoliciting business. it should at least be well considered and the other bankers taken into your council before attempting any radical changes which would affect the whole business in said community. To illustrate—if a physician were to come into a community for the purpose of establishing a practice that would be worthy of himself and his profession, he should first of all endeavor to get in touch with those who have a professional knowledge of the methods, charges and customs of serving the people. So a banker, starting out to build himself up in a community, should first of all know the men with whom he necessarily comes in competition, their methods and practice, their rates and charges, whether or not it has been a successful and profitable method. If in your judgment it has not been, do not take any decided step toward a complete change without discussing freely, and in a most friendly way, so that all may come before the public, a united force.

7. Again, never take snap-judgment or try to surprise either your competitor or the public by doing things that a man of experience in your line knows are done simply for purpose of advertising rather than from a desire for legitimate profit and gain.

8. Every bank has its field to draw from and it is not conducive to friendly co-operation to force yourself into another's territory by offering inducements which you know are only for the purpose of drawing away its customers for your apparent benefit.

9. Never allow yourself to feel that the established banks in a community are not friendly to a new corporation and that every man is against you. By so thinking you are more than apt to be against every man, and, to that extent, fail to bring about the cordial co-operation needed to make the banks of a community the real factors of business growth and convenience.

10. Don't for the purpose of swelling your deposits, solicit collections at cut rates—this will prove to be an expensive luxury.

In conclusion, and by way of application: Banks occupy a very important but unique position in the business world. Their field of operation is narrow and public confidence is essential to their continued success. No department of the business should be done at a loss. Their profits must come in small amounts on numerous transactions. They must show regular and continued additions to surplus.

The community recognizes this and has a right to expect it, and is willing that banks should thus fortify themselves against the day of panic which is the bane of general prosperity.

Your association would be performing a public service if you would adopt plans for running your institutions along safe lines, that would insure regular and legitimate earnings, that would remove many causes of friction, and thus permanently establish them in the confidence of the people.

CONFERENCE ON SCHOOLS

Commissioners and Board of Education Agreed on Necessities for Levy.

A most satisfactory conference between members of the County Board of Education and County Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon at the Court House, at which the former explained very logically the necessities for the recent school tax levy and both Boards pledged themselves informally at the proper time to advocate a bond issue for permanent school buildings in New Hanover, the machinery for which is already on the statute books in Chapter 82, Public Laws of 1907.

The Commissioners were under the impression that the additional levy was for maintaining the schools only, whereas it is the purpose of the Board of Education to use the added revenue in meeting the absolute necessities for more room at the High School and grammar schools in the two extreme ends of the city. The Commissioners were fully satisfied with the conference but recommended that after this year, permanent buildings be taken care of out of a bond issue, Commissioner Divine having prepared a statement to show that the yearly tax rate could actually be reduced under a long-term bond and the schools be provided at once with adequate buildings instead of having to continue the present patchwork out of current revenue.

Those present were Chairman J. J. Carr and Messrs. W. H. Sprunt and D. J. Fergus, of the Board of Education, and Chairman McEachern and Messrs. Divine and Metts, of the Commissioners. The conference was very satisfactory in every respect and the Board of Education was glad to find the very favorable sentiment on the Board of County Commissioners toward the effort for adequate educational facilities in New Hanover.

ROBESON SITUATION

Lumberton, N. C., June 23.

The Editor of the Star, Wilmington, N. C.

I have at last seen the little circular which I predicted would be sent out by McLeod. He did not dare face the public press, but resorted to this method, hoping to deceive the people until after the primary. This method saved him once. Does he think he can fool the people twice with this same scheme? His circular is so full of falsehoods that even McLeod, hardened a man as he is, did not dare to sign his name to it. Get the circular and see whose name is signed to it. No one's. He was afraid to sign it and to assume responsibility for his libels. What do the people of Robeson think of a man who will make a statement and be afraid to sign his name to it. Is not such a man a coward? His first falsehood is that I am attorney for Mr. McKinnon. Neither I, nor my firm are now or have ever been attorneys for McKinnon or represented him in any matter whatever. He has never paid us one cent nor has he agreed to pay me or my firm anything. I am supporting him in this contest because I consider him the best man for the place, because he is my countyman and because I have promised to do so. Nor will we desert him as McLeod deserted him because we think we can thereby curry favor with certain organizations. He convicts himself of falsehood after falsehood in his own circular. He denies that he ever told what took place in McKinnon's conferences and yet on the same page, he proceeds to tell what took place in what he himself calls a secret meeting of McKinnon's supporters at which he himself says he was present. The man must not have read his circular before it was printed. If he had, he would have left this out. What he says took place is so distorted that no fair man would have written it. In the meeting referred to McKinnon simply stated that in other counties it was the custom to allow the home candidate to select the delegates to the convention. He inquired what his friends thought about this. The opinion was that Robeson was too badly divided to be unanimous on anything. Not one word was said about forcing a resolution through the convention. No resolution was mentioned. His next falsehood is that speeches villifying Godwin were made in the mass meeting on the 13th. Every man who attended that meeting knows there is no truth in this. The only thing said about Godwin was his public record as a Congressman. His private and business relations were not referred to. Nothing was said about the Tart case. Nothing was said about the Stewart case. Nothing was said about Mrs. Stewart's letter. The speakers simply referred to the fact that the only legislation Godwin had succeeded in passing were two small pension bills. The record of Congress shows this to be true.

Everyone knows that the record of any public man, even a judge, is a proper and legitimate subject for comment. George B. McLeod's record as chairman of the executive committee is a propr subject for comment, as he will soon find. His next falsehood is that he did not attend the caucus of McKinnon men on the afternoon of the 13th. While I know what to expect from the man, still the very boldness of his falsehoods fills me with admiration. Here is a statement which can be contradicted by a hundred men. McLeod not only attended the caucus but made a speech during the progress of the caucus. What is the matter with the man. Is he so excited that he has forgotten the events of only yesterday? It will get so that no statement the man makes will be worthy of belief. I was not present at the conference between McLeod and Godwin on the 5th day of June and hence cannot say how much money was paid McLeod. He says he only received expense money. He also says it was not necessary for him to spend money as the people were for Godwin anyway. Mr. Godwin should compare this statement of Mr. McLeod with the stub of his check book and then muse a while on the folly of human nature. Here is good money being spent in a county where the people are all for Godwin anyway. Is it not awful? If it be that it was not necessary for McLeod to spend money for Godwin, then why is it that McLeod offered several hundred dollars each to men to go out and work for Godwin? Also, does he count several hundred dollars per man "expense money?" If this is "expense money" and the same amount is being used all over the district as it is in Robeson, Godwin's salary will be all gone before the next Congress meets. He closes his circular with a fling at my law partner, Stephen McIntyre. The people of North Carolina know Stephen McIntyre too well for the bite of such a man as George McLeod to hurt him. Yet, in this matter, as in all others, McLeod lives but to deceive and betray. McLeod was the very first man in the county to come to Mr. McIntyre and urge him to run for the Senate. Hs knew then just as well as he knows now that our firm had the honor to represent several railroads and other corporations in the practice of law. It was not on account of corporation practice that McLeod turned against McIntyre. It was the desire of McLeod to ride into office himself upon the back of the Farmers' Union that induced him to do it. It was this same thing which induced McLeod to betray McKinnon and support Godwin. McLeod reasoned it this way: It seems now that the Farmers' Union is going to line up for Godwin. I must get on the wagon with them. I will soon start in to abusing corporation lawyers. When the people hear me supporting Godwin and abusing the corporations and their lawyers, they will forget my past record and will support me for the Senate. Acting on this belief, he began his corporation attack upon Mr. McIntyre and at the same time commenced sending out petitions all over the county, addressed to himself, urging himself to run for the Senate. He is having these petitions circulated and signed at his own expense. Think about this for a minute and then laugh. A man sending out a petition, addressed to himself, begging himself to run for an office.

Mr. McLeod ought to be careful how he talks about corporation lawyers. A man who is even at this present time being sued for malfeasance, while in office and on account of his use of the people's money, ought to be careful what he says about lawyers. He may need their help some day. McLeod says that Patterson and myself have placed him in the same class with Benedict Arnold. We did no such thing. Benedict Arnold would never have sold out and betrayed his country for the pitiful sum of $53.17. Unlike Mr. McLeod, I assume full responsibility for the contents of this article and unlike him I subscribe my full name hereto. Respectfully,

ROBERT C. LAWRENCE.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Rocky Mount and Tarboro Must Install Sewerage Systems.

At the annual meeting of the State Board of Health, held at Tarrymoore Hotel, during the sessions of the North Carolina Medical Society with Dr. G. G. Thomas, of this city, presiding, and Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary at his post, Rocky Mount and Tarboro were allowed six months in which to put in sewerage systems. Dr. Rankin stated yesterday that there was very little business of importance to come before the body this year. The election of a successor to the late Dr. J. A. Burroughs, of Asheville, on the board, as previously reported.

Sunday School Outing Today.

The annual excursion of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school will be run to Carolina Beach today and two trips of the steamer Wilmington in the morning at 9 A. M. and in the afternoon at 2:30 P. M., have been arranged for the outing. It promises to be one of the most interesting and pleasant of these beach excursions this season.

HARD TO LEAVE THE BEACH.

(Bladen Journal, Clarkton.)

That the people of the Cape Fear valley are noted for their genuine hospitality is a fact conceded by all who have had the pleasure of visiting in this favored portion of our State. Wilmington, the metropolis of the Cape Fear country, has always been famous for the entertainment accorded to its guests, and lately she has added another laurel to herself in entertaining the U. C. T. and the editors of the State.

The editors with whom it was our privilege to meet and mingle with, were universal in their praises for the many courtesies shown by the good citizens of Wilmington—when we say Wilmington, we mean Wrightsville, too, and vice versa. From the moment the "scribblers" landed in the seaport town their pleasures began. The magnificent cars of the Tidewater Power Company were at the disposal of the representatives of the North Carolina Perss Association, and when the occasion demanded it a special car was provided.

Many of the editors found it a hard task to leave delightful Wrightsville Beach, one of the finest resorts in the South. Beautiful Hotel Tarrymoore, under the management of the genial Mr. Moore, was the headquarters of the association. The comfort and entertainment of the guests while at this popular hostelry was all that could be desired. The youthful and lightfooted inclined among the "quillers" were given a chance to give vent to ther pent-up energy at a ball at beautiful Lumina, given in honor of the association by the Tidewater Power Co. The baseball enthusiasts were royally entertained at the baseball park as guests of league team manager.

One of the most enjoyable affairs during the meeting of the association was the trip down the historic Cape Fear as guests of Captain Harper, of the palatial steamer Wilmington. There is not a single editor who took this pleasant trip, but who has a warm spot in his heart for this genial captain.

Too much praise cannot be given, for the success in every respect of the meeting o fthe editors, to the reception committee and to Mr. Jas. H. Cowan, of the Evening Dispatch. It seems that their constant endeavors was to make the stay of their guests a most pleasant and profitable one, and they succeeded admirably.

Editor Caine, of Asheville, who is a native of England, said at the sumptuous banquet given in honor of the editors, that before he came to this country he had heard of the hospitality of the Southern people, but now he knows what it is if the entertainment accorded him by the liberal-hearted people of Wilmington is a sample. Our brother editor is right in his praises of this genrous hospitality, and it does not take a prophet to foretell that the Press Association of North Carolina will again come back at no distant date to our city by the sea if they get half a chance.

REPORT ON BILLS OF LADING

Important Paper Presented to Bankers' Association Yesterday by Col. John F. Bruton, Chairman of Committee on Subject.

One of the most important reports submitted at the present session of the North Carolina State Bankers' Association at Wrightsville Beach was that yesterday on Bills of Lading. This report was submitted by Col. John F. Bruton, of Wilson, chairman of the committee, and in view of its importance to the State is given here in full:

Wilson, N. C., June 22nd, 1910.

To the North Carolina Bankers' Association in Session at Wrightsville, N. C.

Gentlemen:—Your Bills of Lading Committee beg leave to report that the movement in favor of reform legislation regulating the issuance of bills of lading has become general and several States have enacted laws which give character to these evidences of property.

The Congress of the United States is favorably considering the Stevens Bill the passage of which is urgently needed for the protection of inter-state and foreign shipments. This measure has recently passed the House by practically an unanimous vote, and is now before the Senate for adoption. On account of forged bills covering cotton recently put in circulation aggregating nearly ten million dollars the situation to govern the movement of cotton and other crops this Fall is becoming acute, and the failure of the Stevens Bill before the Senate will prove nothing less than a calamity to the South and West; and its passage will but accentuate the necessity of a law in this State regulating intra-state shipments.

This need is plainly apparent to all who have given the subject reasonable consideration. We can but repeat what we stated in our last report.

"By the fight now on, it is proposed mainly to secure assignability, giving no greater rights as to condition and values than those possessed by the first holder of the bill of lading, but clearly defining these rights as well as the obligations of the carriers.

"The law governing bills of lading in this State is set forth in the case of Williams v. Railroad, 93 N. C., 42, wherein it is declared that,

"A common carrier is not bound by a bill of lading issued by its agent unless the goods be actually received for shipment; and the principal is not estopped thereby from showing by parol, that no goods were in fact received, although the bill has been transferred to a bona holder for value."

The enactment of a proper measure by the next Legislature regulating the issuance of bills of lading and clearly fixing the responsibility of public carriers will attract much favorable attention to North Carolina. The farmer will then be able to handle his cotton and other shipping products direct if he desires to do so, and can readily secure from the banks liberal advancements on his drafts with bill of lading attached. The modest manufacturer can more easily finance his factory output; the working capital of the State will be increased one-third or more, and it is here that the banks will be profited in that they can accord help with safety to the large number who are unable to use their products as security while in the depots of public carriers, or in transit.

Your committee is pleased that this Association will be able to present such a measure with confidence that it will be just to all concerned and at the same time protect the rights of shippers and bankers handling or accepting bills of lading as security to drafts presented for discount. In support of this claim we submit in brief the history of the bill which will be submitted for enactment:

In 1905 the Commission on Uniform State Laws in National Conference employed Prof. Samuel Williston, of the Harvard Law School, to prepare a draft of an act to make uniform the law of bills of lading. This draft was submitted to the Committee on Commercial Law at St. Paul, Minn., August 23rd, 1906 and received some consideration at the hands of the committee. The Commissioners on Uniform State Laws deferred its consideration for a year or so that it might be submitted to representatives of shippers, bankers and carriers for suggestions and criticisms. The Committee on Commercial Law held a meeting in Philadelphia in May, 1907, at which all these interests were represented. As a result of the discussion, Prof. Samuel Williston was directed by the Committee on Commercial Law to prepare a second draft of the proposed Bill of Lading Act. This second tentative draft was considered by the Committee on Commercial Law of the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at Portland, Me., August 21st, 1907, and by the Commissioners at the same place August 22nd, 23rd and 24th. As a result of the discussions a third tentative draft was presented and taken up for discussion by the Committee on Commercial Law in Seattle, Wash., August 20th, 1908, and by the Commissioners at this same place August 21st, 22nd and 24th, 1908, at which hearing all interests were granted opportunities of presenting their views, and those who could not be present in person were encouraged to submit written or printed briefs. Following this a fourth draft was prepared for consideration by the Commissioners at their annual meet and was after due notice to all concerned finally accepted by virtually the unanimous vote of the Commissioners present. And it is this final draft which will be submitted for adoption by our General Assembly.

That there may be no misunderstand as to the character of this measure to be presented for enactment into law it may not be amiss to comment briefly upon the organization which brought it forth after more than four years' painstaking deliberation.

The Commissioners on Uniform State Laws consist of the commissioners from the several States who are appointed by their respective Governors. These commissioners are organized as a national body for the better accomplishment of the work for which they are appointed; that is, to cause to be prepared drafts of uniform acts, to the end that uniformity may be brought about in State legislation on commercial laws and other subjects where uniformity is desirable for the promotion of the welfare of the States. The appointment of these State Commissioners arose from the suggestion made in 1890 to the American Bar Association by its committee on Uniform State Laws. The suggestion was readily accepted and there are now commissioners from about 40 States, all serving without pay and all prompted by a common ambition to help in bringing about uniformity in State legislation where uniformity is desirable.

What with its high origin, the painstaking consideration and long period of time accorded to its preparation, and the absolute fairness invoked by its terms, we cannot help but feel encouraged in the belief that the General Assembly will enact into law this measure which will no doubt speedily become the law in the other States of the Union.

The members of the Association can be of inestimable help by directing the attention of their State Senators and Representatives to the importance of the relief being sought.

The membership will, of course, understand that the measure printed in the proceedings of the last convention is to be superceded by the above proposed act finally considered and recommended in August following our convention of May, 1909.

Respectfully submitted,

JNO. F. BRUTON, Chairman.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

The woman with tender skin dreads June because it is sure to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds will surely make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new drug, othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep the skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine will remove them. Get an ounce package from J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

FROM THE AMERICAN BANKERS

Report of Delegate to Association in Chicago Last September—Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, of Charlotte, Presents Paper.

The report of the North Carolina Delegate to the American Bankers' Association in Chicago last September was made yesterday to the State Association at Wrightsville Beach by Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, cashier of the Merchants' & Farmers' National Bank, of Charlotte. Mr. Wilkinson's report is as follows:

To the President and Members of the North Carolina Bankers' Association:

I have the honor to report that as your delegate I attended the 35th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, which was held in the city of Chicago on September 13th, continuing through September 17th, 1909.

The convention, both from the standpoint of attendance and work accomplished, was one of the most successful in the history of the association.

The annual address of the President, Mr. George M. Reynolds, and the report of the secretary, Mr. Fred E. Faunsworth, showed the association to be in a most flourishing condition.

The present membership is 10,682 banks, which is the largest in its history.

The reports indicated that the association was in good financial condition, its income being in excess of its expenditures, and that a reserve had been accumulated.

Probably the most important matter before the convention was the report of "The Bil of Lading Committee." This committee did much work during the interval between the 34th and 35th conventions, as well as during the session of the convention. I believe that the bill, recently introduced and passed by the House of Representatives, with regard to the issuing of bills of lading, was, in a large measure, influenced by the efforts of this committee. Should the bill be passed by the Senate, and receive the signature of the President, it would be a long step forward in settling this most vexed problem.

The report of the Currency Commission was also of much interest, but, as yet, nothing has been definitely accomplished in this direction.

Interesting and instructive addresses were made by Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Hon. Lawrence O. Murray, Comptroller of the Currency; Hon. James G. Hill, Chairman of the Board of the Great Northern Railroad; Dr. John C. Kilgo, and others.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Lewis E. Pierson, president Irving National Exchange Bank, New York; first vice president, F. O. Watts, president First National Bank, Nashville, Tenn.; chairman Executive Council, William Livingstone, president Dime Savings Bank, Detroit, Mich.; general secretary, Fred E. Faunsworth; treasurer, P. C. Kauffman; assistant secretary, Wm. E. Fitz Wilson.

It was decided by a unanimous vote to hold the next annual convention at Los Angeles, Cal.

I do not feel that this report would be complete without some mention of the generous hospitality of the Chicago bankers during the convention.

On Tuesday evening the members of the convention, the visiting delegates and the guests were entertained at three of the leading theatres of the city, and were presented with a silver spoon as a souvenir of the occasion. Ice cream was served between acts of the play.

On Wednesday afternoon two steamers were chartered and the members of the convention were given an excursion on the lake. A landing was made at Gary, Ind., and the whole party was taken over the great plant of the Unitd States Steel Corporation at that place.

On Thursday afternoon the delegates were taken to the Chicago Stock Yards by special trains on the elevated road.

On Thursday evening a grand reception and ball was given at the Auditorium Theatre, at which President Taft honored the occasion with his presence.

Altogether the social features were thoroughly enjoyed and the Chicago bankers exerted themselves to make all visitors enjoy to the fullest all of the social features.

Respectfully submitted.

W. C. WILKINSON,
Delegate.

DAVID'S

YOU'LL find that its poor policy to shop around in buying clothes; to go where you see the lowest price quoted. Price doesn't mean much in clothes unless yon know what the quality of the goods is.

If you govern your buying by the price you pay without reference to what you get for it, you'll find some mighty cheap clothes for sale; their cheapness is likely to be more in quality than in price. But you'll find plenty of good clothes, too;

FURTHER DECLINE IN COTTON

Prices Found Considerable Support on a Scale Down and Last Prices Showed a Moderate Rally. Opening Barely Steady.

New York, June 23.—There was a further decline in cotton today but the market found considerable support on a scale down and last prices showed a moderate rally from the lowest with the close steady at a net loss of 2 to 11 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 7 to 14 points under overnight selling orders and in sympathy with disappointing cables.

The weather map made a rather more favorable showing than yesterday, but the early offerings were well absorbed by local and foreign shorts and shortly after the call the market rallied to within 5 to 6 points of last night's final figures.

Private wires reporting more rain in Texas shown on the early map renewed selling, however, and during the middle of the day the market became rather weak, under liquidation and bear pressure. After showing a net loss of 7 to 14 points, prices steadied up on a renewal of bull support, and an effort to buy 4,000 bales of August sent that position up from 14.60 to 14.76, or 3 points net higher. Other months following this advance very slowly and later most of the improvement was lost, although it seemed that the showers in Texas had not been sufficient to relieve the situation with the Western belt forecast calling for nothing more than some further showers in east gulf coast with dry weather in the interior. A little less rain was reported in the Eastern belt, but the forecast was for continued showers in most sections. The bull leaders gave the market considerable support at times but appeared to be buying only on soft spots and at no time during the day was there any general buying on advances. Southern spot markets officially reported were 1-8c lower to 1-4c higher. Houston, Texas, reported the first new crop cotton of the season, two bales having been received there today.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 4,925 bales, against 5,071 last week and 40,276 last year. For the week 25,000 bales against 24,531 last week and 33,530 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,295 bales against 1,039 last year, and at Houston 139 against 884 last year.

Cotton: Slot closed dull 15 points lower; middling uplands 15.05; middling gulf 15.30. Sales 14,003 bales.

Futures opened easy and closed steady.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Opened Sharply Lower Yesterday—July Sold Rather Freely.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, June 23.—Cables this morning were disappointing, with small spot sales, and as the weather was cooler in Texas, with a few scattered showers, our market opened quite sharply lower, with a good deal of pressure in evidence, particularly in the Fall months, which were so freely bought earlier in the week.

Houses with Western connections sold July rather freely, replacing their sales with August, the July-August difference narrowing as a result to some 35 points. After the initial decline the liquidation appeared to have run its course, and prices held very steady, slightly below the opening figures. While it is obviously impossible for cotton to come here for July in the volume in which it came during May, the spot houses have been small but steady sellers of July against votton during the last few days.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 23.—Fresh alarm seized wheat traders today because general rains failed to appear in the spring crop States. Except in a few spots the great bulk of the growing grain in a vasst belt was without much needed moisture. Notwithstanding announcement of a break in the hot wave, temperatures were again high and damage reports came thick and fast. The close was firm and 1 5-8 to 1 7-8c net higher. DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 23.—More buying at lower prices was reported for the day in printcloths and convertibles. Brown goods are slightly easier. Bleached goods are moving very well indeed since the revision Monday. In the carpet trade prices are held steady. A better retail business is reported in wash fabrics and other seasonable merchandise.

INFLUENCED STOCK MARKET

Apprehension Over Crop Prospect Forced Cheerful Sentiment in Background—Unfavorable Situation in Wheat.

New York, June 23.—The feeling of apprehension over the crop prospect proved its dominant influence on stocks again today and forced into the background the more cheerful sentiment of yesterday growing out of the brightening prospect for railroad rate increase and the improved investment demand for new capital offerings.

It was not until the wheat market opened that the reactionary movement became pronounced. With the price of wheat ruling two cents a bushel higher than yesterday and the advance sustained during the morning, the stock markets misgivings over the state of Spring wheat in several of the Northwestern States were revived.

The importance attached to the crop news obscured such happenings as the return of J. P. Morgan and the customary use made by professional operators of that recurrent event to advance prices of the stocks most closely associated with that financier's name. A story from Paris that Mr. Morgan was bringing home a plan for restriction of copper production by joint agreement with European producers failed of effect on coppers, which were fully abreast of the general drooping tendency of prices.

Bank rates will come down following the meeting of the half yearly settlements on July first and a period of notable ease of money is promised to follow.

The easing of the money market in New York is restricted as yet to the shorter periods, rates carrying over the end of the year showing a stiffer tone. The effect on the investment demand for securities is only moderate partly owing to the question how far the easing money situation is due to economies in expenditure which may be reflected in the earning power of business enterprises.

While the Spring wheat outlook was the influencing factor, the Spring wheat grangers were not alone in feeling the effect. The drooping tendency was fairly uniform and was accompanied by a shrinkage in volume of business from the business done on the advance yesterday. The passing of the half yearly dividend on Minneapolis and St. Louis preferred weakened the Hawley and hurt the general list in the late trading.

Bonds were firm. Total sales par value $2,123,000. United States threes declined 1-4 per cent. in the bid price on call. Total sales today 348,900 shares.

FIGHT ON STEEL TRUST.

Gompers Urges House Committee for an Investigation.

Washington, June 22.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, and other labor leaders, urged on individual members of the Rules Committee of the House today the passage of the Stanley resolution directing an investigation of the so-called "steel trust."

The labor organizations virtually notified Congress that unless the Stanley measure was passed by the House the Republican party would be held responsible in the November elections. The labor advocates were advised to act quickly by arranging a hearing before the committee. Another proposition the labor leaders are interested in is the Hughes amendment to the sundry civil bill virtually exempting labor organizations from prosecution under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws. The matter is now in conference over an instruction of the House to its conferees to refuse to concur in the Senate's striking out of that amendment.

The labor leaders failed to induce the Rules Committee to consider the Stanley resolution. Chairman Dalzell told them positively that he would not call the committee together for the purpose, previously, the labor representatives obtained from members of the committee pledges as to how they would vote on the resolution. All the Democratic members favored the Stanley resolution and a majority of the Republican members so expressed themselves.

After ascertaining that the Rules Committee could not be convened, the proponents of it began a personal poll of the House to ascertain if enough votes could be obtained to compel consideration of the bill under a suspension of the rules, without its being considered by the committee. This would require a two-thirds vote.

Arthur Holder, who represented Mr. Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, informed the members of the Rules Committee that Mr. Gompers was prepared to submit vital evidence "against the steel trust" if a hearing was granted.

Scared Into Sound Health.

Mr. B. F. Kelly, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Robt. R. Bellamy.

sume you refer to the proposition now before Congress that money appropriated for fiscal year 1911 for enforcement of anti-trust laws and acts to regulate commerce shall no part of it be expended in the prosecution of conspiracies in the nature of boycotts to increase wages, shorten hours, or better the condition of labor.

"The Supreme Court has decided that such a boycott is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and this proposal is an attempt to withhold the means of prosecuting that law when it is violated by a particular class thus to be made privileged. I am entirely opposed to such class legislation. If it were proposed to amend the language of the Sherman anti-trust law itself so as somewhat to narrow its scope that would present a proper question for consideration, but so long as the anti-trust law remains upon the statute books an attempt to modify its enforcement so as to render immune any particular class of citizens, rich or poor, employers or employes, is improper legislation and in my judgment ought to be opposed by your brotherhood.

"The laboring man and the trades unionist, if I understand him, asks only equality before the law. Class legislation and unequal privilege, though expressly in his favor, will in the end work no benefit to him or to society."

Three Arrests in Parks Murder Mystery—Bad Blood Existed.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Monroe, N. C., June 23.—The coroner's jury in the Parks murder case met yesterday and as a result of their investigations the following arrests have been made: C. B. Plyler, white, a brother-in-law of the murdered man; George Mayhew and John McManus, both negroes, suspicioned of being implicated in the killing. Vain Taylor, another negro, has been placed under $500 bond for his appearance as State's witness. There had been bad blood between deceased and Plyler for some time, due, it is said, to Parks' ill treatment of his wife, Plyler's sister. Plyler had made threats that he would either kill Parks himself or hire others to do it for him. He is also accused of having once fired on Parks from ambush, some time ago. He is in jail without bail, charged with the murder. The negroes Mayhew and McManus, are also held without bail. They are thought to have been Plyler's agents in the killing.

MANY DEATHS FROM HEAT.

Hot Wave Fatal for 15 Yesterday.—Some Tragedies.

Philadelphia, June 23.—Excessive heat here today caused one man to end his life with a bullet from a revolver. Another was overcome and fell in front of a train which killed him in the presence of hundreds of horrified fellow commuters. In addition, 15 deaths were due to the torrid weather itself. This was the third day of the present hot wave and the mercury climbed to 94 degrees and at one time this afternoon and remained above the 90 mark until after sunset.

Welch, W. Va., June 23.—Charles Harmon, a prominent citizen of Tazewell county, Virginia, was thrown from a horse and fell under the wheels of a train near War, W. Va., last night. He received injuries that caused his death shortly afterwards. He had been in West Virginia on legal business.

Chas. G. Gates, son of John W. Gates, is reported seriously ill in Paris. He is suffering from a general breakdown.

A. Graham, Durham.

Finance Committee—Dr. G. T. Sikes, Gastonia; Dr. H. H. Abernethy, Dunn; Dr. E. T. Dickinson, Wilson.

Obituary Committee—Dr. A. W. Knox, Raleigh; Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, Greenville; Dr. M. H. Fletcher, Asheville.

Delegate to American Medical Association—Dr. J. F. Highsmith, Fayetteville, and Dr. J. Howell Way, Waynesville.

Delegates to Virginia Medical Society—Dr. H. T. Bahnson, C. M. Strong, and D. T. Taylor.

Honorary Fellows by reason of 30 years membership—Dr. J. W. McNeill, Fayettevile; Dr. W. P. Beall, Greensboro; Dr. T. E. Anderson, Statesville; Dr. R. H. Hargraves, Robbinsville; Dr. C. M. Poole, Salisbury; Dr. H. T. Grantham, Salisbury; Dr. John Whitehead, Salisbury; Dr. E. M. Prince, Laurinburg; Dr. A. W. Knox, Raleigh; Dr. J. M. Baker, Tarboro.

The committee reported that Hendersonville had presented a very cordial invitation for the 1911 meeting and that it was declined only because the society met in Asheville, the same section, last year. Pinehurst made a bid for the meeting, but when it was ascertained that the hotels there close before the usual time for the annual meeting that place was no longer considered. Charlotte was then selected by the committee as the proper place for the next meeting. The report of the committee was accepted.

Dr. H. A. Royster, of Raleigh, submitted the report of the Councillors. The Councillors had held a meeting and elected Dr. C. M. Strong, of Charlotte, chairman and Dr. Royster, secretary. It was reported that Dr. R. L. Payne, of Norfolk, had been elected an honorary member of the society. The report was accepted.

In accordance with a resolution of the Forsyth Medical Society, Dr. H. T. Bahnson, of Winston-Salem, moved that the State Medical Society refuse to affiliate with the American Medical Society as long as negroes are admitted to full membership in that body. After the motion had been accepted Dr. Way moved that the motion be tabled without discussion. Dr. Way's motion prevailed. Dr. Bahnson, in making the motion, stated that the action of the Forsyth medical society in accepting the resolution, did not meet with his approval and gave his reasons for opposing it.

The House of Delegates then adjourned sine die.

General Session.

Immediately after the adjournment of the House of Delegates the general session convened with Dr. Edward J. Wood presiding. The committee on the president's address recommended that the president appoint a committee of three to consider the recommendation of Dr. Wood with reference to changing the plan of organization and report at the next meeting. The committee, in its report, commented favorably on Dr. Wood's reference to county societies. Dr. D. A. Stanton, secretary, read to the society the report of the nominating committee, adopted by the House of Delegates.

Hookworm Conference.

Dr. Charles Waddell Stiles, scientific secretary of Rockefeller Hookworm Commission, was then introduced, or rather presented, and made a strikingly able address on "The Value and Essentials of a Sanitary Privy." Dr. Stiles is an expert on the hookworm disease and in his rather lengthy discourse gave the medical men much information of value to them in their crusade against the disease. He had on exhibition a model of the surface privy that is used throughout the country and he explained in detail why this is unsanitary. Also on exhibition was a model of the new and sanitary privy which was also explained by Dr. Stiles. Dr. Stiles' address was discussed by Dr. B. K. Hayes, of Oxford; Dr. L. B. McBrayer, of Asheville; Dr. McAnnaly, of High Point; and Dr. G. T. Sikes, of Grissom. The discussion was interesting but no new points were brought out. Dr. Stiles then closed the discussion. He called special attention to the spreading of diseases by the house fly and mosquito.

Status of the Disease.

Dr. Stiles was followed by Dr. J. A. Ferrell, of Raleigh, assistant secretary for the Eradication of Hookworm Disease, who told of the "Status of Hookworm Disease in North Carolina." He said that in planning a campaign against hookworm disease the answers to certain questions should be known. He enumerated these and then spoke in part as follows:

"Investigation shows that in all walks of life we have people infected with hookworm disease. These keep the soil polluted by discharging from the bowels, along with the feces, myriads of hookworm eggs which germinate into infecting hookworm larvae. Except where sewer systems are found no provision is made to prevent soil pollution. Moreover, our climatic conditions favor the disease. The Summer months afford the warmth, and the ample rainfall, the moisture essential for the propagation of the parasites. Besides, the soil in most localities is of such a nature that it holds the moisture necessary for the parasite's existence near the surface, or is sufficiently porous to allow the worms to burrow to a stratum where the moisture may be found.

"The distribution of hookworm disease in North Carolina is general. Examinations of more than 600 college students, and reports from, approximately, 400 doctors, who have treated more than 3,000 white and 250 negro cases of hookworm disease, have shown that it prevails in 88 counties in the State. Of the ten counties in the State from which, so far, we have received no positive information showing its prevalence, five are in the west, two in the central, and three in the extreme eastern section of the State. All ten of these counties, being bordered on two or more sides by counties in which hookworm disease is known to prevail, we are safe in saying it prevails in every section of the State.

"The skin is the chief portal by which the infecting larvae enter the system, though probably not the sole one. 'ground itch' is the usual manifestation of occurring infection. The microscopic examination of the stools usually reveals the eggs when there is a history of ground itch within the past ten years. The more recent ground itch the greater the certainty of finding hookworm disease in the stools.

"The relative percentage of infection in the various sections of the State, and in the different strata of society has not yet been determined. The finding by microscopic examination that more than 33 1-2 per cent. of the 600 college students were infected, these representing at least one-half of the counties in both the east and west, shows that the infection prevails throughout the States in the elite. Many of the students were heavily infected, but, on acount of their vigorous constitutions, well supplied with nutritious diets, they presented few, and in some cases, practically none of the severe symptoms ordinarily ascribed to hookworm disease. Yet, after treatment they felt better and were able to do more work than formerly. In general practice the physician has found his cases among all classes, but the greatest degree of infection with the resulting clinical symptoms most severe, among those living in poorly constructed houses on a scanty and unwholesome diet. So few doctors in general practice have made investigations where all classes of people were included, using the positive methods of diagnosing, that we are unable to give any accurate estimate of the percentage of general infection in any particular locality, as compared with some other locality."

Two persons were examined in New Hanover county and one was found to have the disease.

"Little difference exists in the opinions of recent investigators as to the age when the infection is most likely to occur," continued Dr. Ferrell. "But the disease is rarely presented by infants or the aged. The barefooted period and the ten years following it, or from the fifth to the 25th years, stand out prominently as the age period in which probably more than 80 per cent. of the hookworm infection is found. The 15th or 16th year usually shows the highest number infected. This can be explained by the fact that, nearly every Summer for the preceeding ten years there has been a case of ground itch, which has added each time re-inforcements to the host of hookworms in the intestines, and that about this time ends the barefoot period. The maximum degree of infection is, therefore, seen at this age. The worms do not multiply in the intestine. After the 16th year shoes are worn Summer and Winter, re-infection cannot occur and the older hookworm inhabitants of the intestine, having reached the age limit of from eight to 12 years, begin dying of old age, and thus the infection gradually decreases in severity. Adults who go barefooted, or in other ways come in contact with polluted soil, afford exceptions to this general statement."

Dr. Ferrell then spoke at some length regarding symptoms, diagnosis, treatment, etc., and in conclusion told of the plan to wage a vigorous campaign in North Carolina against the disease and asked the hearty co-operation of the physicians as well as the general public.

Dr. Ferrell's paper was discussed by Dr. E. J. Wood, who stated that Dr. Stiles picked him out as a victim of the hookworm when he first came to this State and that it was a fact that he (Dr. Wood) had suffered from the disease; W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health; Dr. Whittington, of Snow Hill, who told of the excelent results obtained by him in the treatment of 20 cases in his county. The discussion was closed by Dr. Ferrell, who thanked the physicians for the great interest shown by them in the eradication of the disease.

Dr. Willingham, of Wilmington, sent down to the meeting two small children who are victims of the disease and they were viewed with interest by the physicians.

Dr. Laughinghouse moved that the society extend to the New Hanover Medical Society its hearty thanks for the excellent entertainment provided, and also read a resolution authorizing the secretary to write a letter of thanks to the secretary of the New Hanover Alumni Association of the State Normal College, which served refreshments on the boat on the river trip Wednesday afternoon. Reference was made on the resolution to the fact that the alumnae association is endeavoring to raise $1,000 for the McIver loan fund for the college, which movement was endorsed by the physicians. Dr. Graham moved the adoption of the resolutions and suggested that a collection be taken. The resolutions were adopted and Dr. Graham passed around his hat, receiving quite a neat sum which will be sent to the alumnae association.

Dr. Wood announced the appointment of the following as the committee to pass on the recommendations contained in the president's address to make report at the next meeting: Drs. A. A. Kent, G. T. Sikes and Frank Holmes.

The new president, Dr. C. M. Poole, of Salisbury, was escorted to the chair and formally installed in his office. In presenting him, Dr. Wood stated that the society was to be congratulated upon the selection of Dr. Poole as president. Dr. Poole stated that he deeply appreciated the high honor paid him and that his best efforts would be in behalf of the society.

There were a large number of papers on the programme that were not reached, the society adjourning sine die at 1:30 P. M.

The newly elected Board of Councillors held a meeting at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and elected Dr. A. A. Kent, of Lenoir, president and Dr. M. L. Stevens, of Asheville, as secretary. They also discussed plans for work during the year.

Extra bargains today at the great mill end sale at Rehder's big department store, Fourth street bridge. Special 30-minute sale 10:30 to 11 A. M., $1.00 hats for 25 cents; 25 cent kimonas for 10 cents. Everybody will please come early as the store closes at 1 o'clock for half holiday. **

This is the Difference Between Hoarding Money and Saving it:

Money when hoarded and stored away in stockings or buried, is likely to be lost.

It earns nothing, year in and year out.

Money placed in a savings account earns four per cent. interest for you and is absolutely safe.
